Price & Volume Distribution Charts (as at Yesterday)

Technical Analysis

DEFINITION: Shariah compliant stocks with Technical Analysis showing 5-days & 10-days Moving Average Price below Yesterday's Close over past 3 days and with Volume Spike.

CHART GUIDE: Volume Distribution Chart is a statistical interpretation of the current sentiment on each stock in graphical format. The highest bar categorized as >150k is likely to be traded by institutions or super dealers, while the lowest bar categorized as <15k usually represents retail investors. "Buy Up" refers to more buyers snatching up the lots queued at selling price. "Sell Down" refers to sellers selling their shares to the buying queue ank Negara Malaysia (BNM) has maintained the overnight policy rate (OPR) at 3% in its Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) meeting on Nov 2. According to the MPC, the advance gross domestic product estimate points to an improvement in economic activity in the third quarter. Growth in 2024 will be driven mainly by resilient domestic expenditure, with some support emanating from the expected recovery in electrical and electronics exports. The MPC remains vigilant to ongoing developments to inform the assessment of the outlook for domestic inflation and growth and will ensure that the monetary policy stance remains conducive to sustainable economic growth amid price stability.

BNM KEEPS OPRAT 3% IN LAST MPC MEETING OF 2023

IMPLEMENTATION OF TAX ON HIGH-VALUE GOODS STARTING MAY 2024 - MOF

According to the Ministry of Finance, Malaysia will implement a tax on high-value goods from May 1, 2024. In a written response to Parliament on Nov 1, the ministry stated that it was currently finalising the policy and will announce the tax mechanism, types of goods to be taxed and tax rates once approved by the Cabinet. PM Datuk Seri Anwar Ibrahim had announced in his Budget 2024 speech in October that a tax of 5% to 10% will be introduced for high-value goods. Malaysia expects to bolster its fiscal position by introducing a tax on high-value goods, among other new taxes combined with subsidy cuts.

RENT-TO-OWN SCHEME TO BE EXPANDED TO ALLOW B40, M40 GROUPS TO OWN HOMES

According to Local Government Development Minister Nga Kor Ming, the government will expand the Rent-to-Own scheme to enable more people from the B40 and M40 groups to own homes. Cooperation with financial institutions will be continued to provide attractive and sustainable housing financing packages. The ministry through PR1MA Corporation Malaysia (PR1MA) and Syarikat Perumahan Negara Berhad (SPNB) had been developing housing projects such as the SPNB Housing and PR1MA Housing programmes for the M40 group nationwide. He said this at the winding-up the debate on the Supply Bill 2024 for the ministry in the Dewan Rakyat on October 31. To date, a total of 28,583 SPNB housing units have been completed, 1,024 units are under construction and 531 units are in the planning process.

He added that PR1MA has also built 35,454 affordable housing units, while 14,427 units are in progress and 3,765 units are being planned nationwide as of Oct 15. The government has also agreed to set the standard size for the People's Housing Project (PPR) unit at 750 square feet, with a minimum of three bedrooms and two bathrooms for each unit. This new direction in the PPR implementation is in line with the government's aim to enhance the living conditions of residents in these housing units.

With this, KPKT will ensure that newly constructed PPRs will be wellintegrated with other facilities, including recreational parks, food courts and convenience stores. In addition, to promote home ownership, the ministry has introduced the i-Biaya initiative which is a financing assurance through the Housing Credit Guarantee Scheme (SJKP), specifically for first-time homebuyers, including those without a fixed income or payslips, such as workers in the gig economy.

Through this initiative, the government provides financing assurance of up to RM500,000. This includes the principal financing amount, the Mortgage Reducing Term Assurance (MRTA) guarantee, the Mortgage Reducing Term Takaful (MRTT), legal fees and valuation fees. Throughout the SJKP implementation from 2008 until Sept 30, 2023, a total of 30,841 loan applications, amounting to RM5.85 billion, had been approved and the government, through the 2024 Budget, has proposed an additional RM10 billion in guarantees to benefit 40,000 borrowers.

BURSA, DALIAN COMMODITY EXCHANGE INK AGREEMENT FOR SOYBEAN OIL FUTURES SETTLEMENT PRICE

KUALA LUMPUR (Nov 2): Bursa Malaysia Derivatives Bhd (BMD) and the Dalian Commodity Exchange (DCE) have signed the licensing agreement for the soybean oil futures settlement price — the first product collaboration between a Chinese derivatives exchange, and an Asian exchange based outside of the republic. Under the agreement, the DCE has authorised use of the settlement price of DCE soybean oil futures by BMD as the basis to calculate the cash settlement price of its upcoming new product, the Bursa Malaysia DCE soybean oil futures contract (FSOY). The underlying asset of the FSOY will mirror that of the DCE soybean oil futures.

Bursa Malaysia targets to launch the product in the first quarter of 2024, subject to regulatory approval. The latest collaboration between BMD and the DCE marks a historic milestone in the development of the Asian derivatives market. In a joint statement, both entities stated that it represents the first instance of a Chinese derivatives exchange authorising an Asian exchange to incorporate Chinese commodity futures settlement prices into its product offerings. Simultaneously, adopting foreign commodity futures prices as the basis for calculating cash settlement prices not only sets a precedent for the Malaysian futures market, but also leverages the proven success of the DCE soybean oil futures contract.

The licensing agreement was signed at the 17th China International Oils and Oilseeds Conference in Dalian, China, a landmark event in the global oils and oilseeds industry jointly organised by the DCE and BMD. The settlement price licensing agreement was signed by BMD chairman and Bursa Malaysia Bhd chief executive officer Datuk Muhamad Umar Swift and DCE CEO Yan Shaoming.

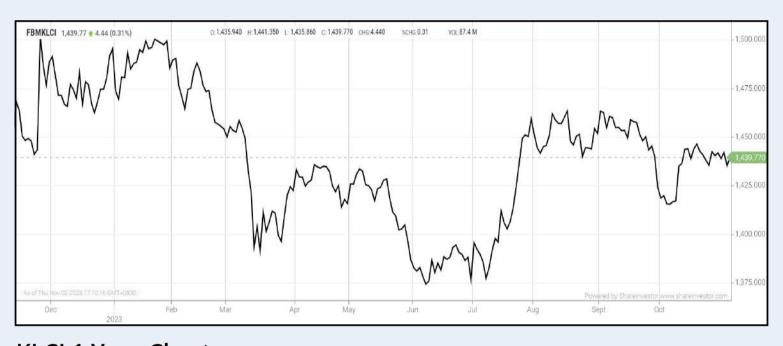

According to Muhamad Umar, as the leading commodity derivatives marketplace in ASEAN, BMD continually develops products to help market participants navigate the complexities of international markets and discover trading opportunities. Through this cooperation, BMD is proud to offer an innovative solution that simplifies market access, and empowers industry players to effectively manage cross-market risks.

The soybean oil futures launched by the DCE in 2006 are widely used as a price reference for China's spot soybean oil trades, while their institutional market participants are industry players who account for 90% of the soybean crushing volume in China. Meanwhile, BMD offers the world's most liquid crude palm oil (CPO) futures contract, and is established as the global centre for CPO price discovery. Thus, the introduction of the FSOY will leverage the strengths of both exchanges to offer market players arbitrage opportunities between soybean oil and palm oil, which are common substitutes.

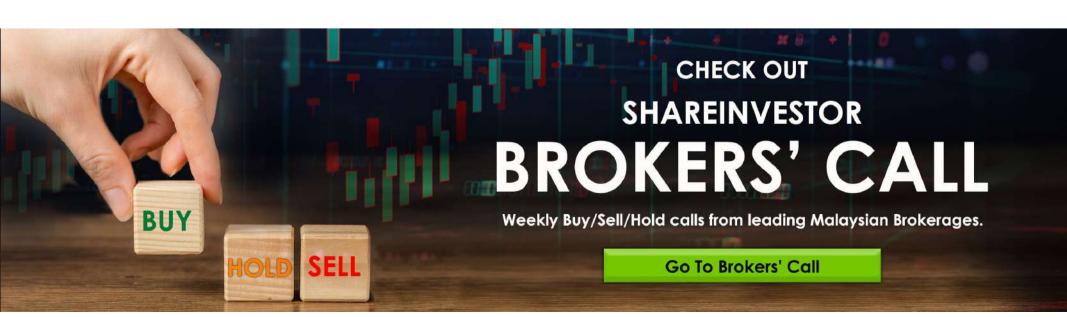

The FSOY will provide international traders with an alternative avenue to access Chinese soybean oil prices, with the convenience to trade both commodities on the same exchange (BMD), enabling cross-margining and capital efficiencies.

SOME REFLECTIONS ON AN ESOS

Devanesan Evanson

Chief Executive Officer, Minority Shareholders Watch Group

tock-based compensation such as employee share option schemes (ESOS) is widely used to reward, motivate and retain directors and employees for their contributions to a company's performance. Proponents believe stock options can effectively align the interests of managers, employees and shareholders.

At the same time, opponents argue that the mechanism of ESOS is flawed and highly contentious. They argue that executives can make a fortune from options when shares go up in value. But when share prices fall, investors lose out while executives are no worse off as they can choose not to exercise the options. Worse still, the incentive to keep share prices moving upward so that options stay in the money may encourage some executives to focus exclusively on the near term and ignore shareholders' longer-term interests. Options can even tempt top managers to manipulate numbers to meet short-term targets. If so, that hardly reinforces the link between top managers and shareholders.

ESOS OPTIONS GRANTED, THEN IMPAIRMENTS AND PROVISIONS MADE

The ESOS of a local listed company serves as an interesting case study. In December 2022, the Company granted close to 50 million new ESOS options to eligible directors and employees at 38 sen per share. About 80% of the new ESOS options were granted to its chief executive officer/executive director. Another 4% to the other five directors including four independent and non-executive directors.

Six months later, the Company announced massive impairment with hundreds of millions impaired and provisioned from its balance sheet in the last quarter of its 18- month financial period ended 30 April 2023 (FPE2023). This resulted in hundreds of millions of losses recorded during the financial period. The sum included a one-off provision for potential liability due to delays in existing projects and impairments for outstanding receivables and intangible assets for key projects which the Board attributed to disruptions caused by the COVID-19 pandemic. The Company announced the change of its financial year end from 30 October 2022 to 30 April 2023 in early January 2023 to 'allow for better availability of resources and improvement management of audit and annual reporting.'

Notably, this was the first time it was in the red since it went public over a decade ago. In its Annual Report 2023, the Board stressed that the impairments and provisions were 'timely and pragmatic to reflect the Company's financial position'. Assets are tested for impairment on a regular basis to prevent overstatement on the balance sheet. Assets such as receivables, intangibles and fixed assets are more likely to be subject to impairment. When an asset's value is written down (impaired) on the balance sheet, a loss is recorded in the income statement.

TIMING OPPORTUNISM OR PURE COINCIDENCE

Its annual report stated that all the eligible directors and employees fully accepted the ESOS options by the end of January 2023. Some directors exercised their options at 38 sen per share during the FPE2023. These ESOS options were without a vesting period. The temporal proximity between the grant of ESOS options and impairments raises questions on whether the Board and Options Committee were aware of the possibility of impairments when they assessed the eligibility of employees and directors when granting the ESOS options. It is good practice to disclose to shareholders the criteria and KPIs used to grant options to directors and key employees.

To be fair, the Options Committee could have been unaware of the imminent impairment when it granted the ESOS options, especially given the resignation of the external auditor. Its former external auditor resigned on 24 October 2022 due to 'disagreement on unreasonable audit fees.' A new external auditor was appointed six months later.

MSWG queried the Board on the above during the Company's AGM. The Board clarified that no concern of subsequent impairments was raised to the Board before granting the ESOS options to its directors and employees. The ESOS was granted in December 2022, and the impairment assessment had yet to be performed at that time. The allocation of ESOS was at the discretion of the Options Committee based on the standard criteria set under by-laws, and the Audit Committee subsequently verified the list of recipients. The Options Committee comprised its former chairman, the CEO and an employee. Generally, the directors involved would abstain from the deliberation of their own remuneration at committee and board levels.

THE PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE

In fact, concerns abounded months back over its financial health given its stretched balance sheet, rising contract assets and intangible assets, and persistently negative operating cash flow. As crises loomed, its share prices were beaten to a multi-year low. At one point, shares of the Company changed hands at 27.5 sen in mid-2022 before recovering to 90 sen currently.

Amid these concerns, the CEO of the Company reassured the investing public that these concerns had arisen from a general misunderstanding of its business model. The negative cash flow was attributed to its concession-based projects which require intensive capital expenditure upfront. Investors were told that the cash flow would turn positive once the concession assets were completed and subsequently would generate stable and reliable income in the years to come. Besides, the Company was confident that no additional capital was required to complete its existing projects.

Notwithstanding the repeated assurances, the commercial operation dates of its key projects were again deferred. As it faced the cash crunch issue, shares were placed out to new shareholders, with revamps ensuing at the board and management level. Records showed that four of six directors who received the ESOS options left the Board after the revamps. Then, huge impairments and provisions were announced; the rest is history.

It is worth noting that the impairments and provisions are non-cash and potentially reversible, subject to ongoing negotiations of receivables and reduced liquidated ascertained damages, should delayed projects commence operations earlier than expected. Impairments and provisions should be provided to accurately reflect a company's financial position; board and management should always be prudent in their estimations and judgments. This means being more cautious and conservative to mitigate any major risks that would affect the business.

Ultimately, significant impairments of assets have a negative effect on the balance sheet and dampen investors' confidence in a company. At the end of the day, shareholders are on the receiving end of these negative developments. It may seem that the CEO had profited tremendously from the exercise of ESOS options at a price that is far lower than the market price amid massive losses posted by the Company. However, credit is also due for the efforts in steering the Company out of recent crises and a subsequent recovery in share price within a year. It appears the dust has settled for the Company after experiencing a challenging year. For now, it is on track to complete its remaining key projects and is starting to recognise incomes from some concession assets.

New investors who invested in the Company since last year might reap abundant returns with a strong recovery in share price. However, for long-term shareholders, their investing journey is nothing short of a roller coaster ride with volatile share price performance and the absence of dividends in recent years.
