nnovation, automation and sustainability are oft-spoken buzzwords, but for Southern Score Builders Berhad (SSBB), it's a guiding credo. Committed to pioneer the development of robotic construction technology in Malaysia, the construction management company is working hard to expedite testing and make it suitable for the local construction environment.

Gan Yee Hin, its Executive Director and CEO, revealed that SSBB aims to integrate automation and robotics across the entire spectrum of design, manufacturing and construction processes within the framework of Industrialised Building Systems (IBS) in Malaysia. He added that using technologies, such as Building Information Modelling (BIM) and robotics, gives the company an edge in the construction sector and positions it for future growth and efficiency gains.

In June, SSBB forged a collaborative alliance with MCC Overseas (M) Sdn Bhd (MCC) and Guangdong Bright Dream Robotics Co Ltd (GBDR) through a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) to bring in construction robots technology to automate the design, manufacturing and construction process of IBS in Malaysia. The aim is to achieve efficiency in building residential homes.

According to the MOU, the trio will collaborate to construct 5,000 units of houses in Malaysia using the new robotic construction technology. We feel it is our responsibility to ensure the suitability of these machines prior to wide implementation by the industry.

"Given that the machines were developed by foreign companies with distinct environmental requirements, we need to assess their compatibility with the Malaysian climate. So, our first step is to test it on targeted projects to ensure the suitability of these machines before wider implementation," Gan explained.

SSBB provides professional project management services, from project initiation stages to the completion of construction works. These services cover project initiation, planning and design, appointment of subcontractors, procurement, construction project management and inspection until completion and handover. In 2015, the company was awarded turnkey contractor for PR1MA Jalan Jubilee. Other construction and development projects SSBB undertook over the years include Vista Sentul Residence, Platinum Arena Residences, Vista Wirajaya 1@PV 9 Residences, PV 18 Residence and Platinum Teratai Residences.

SSBB's experience in building and infrastructure construction management services sparked the interest in automating the processes to achieve faster delivery, cleaner construction sites and better productivity. Gan said their [SSBB team] interest was piqued during a working visit to Bozhilin Robotics in Guangdong, China, where they witnessed the construction robotics technology in action.

"Our team then conducted extensive research into construction robots, Building Information Modelling (BIM) technology, and other innovative construction methods and we think it is important for us to adopt it in Malaysia," he said. The adoption of robotic construction technology will cut down construction time and enhance precision and consistency of tasks. The young leader, who took over the company's management from his father, Tan Sri Gan Yu Chai, noted that an important aspect of the technology was its contribution to the environmental, social and governance (ESG) aspects.

"The adoption of automation in construction will enhance worker safety by mitigating exposure to hazardous conditions, while minimising dust and other hazardous materials," he told Inve$t.

According to Gan, the machine has the capability to vacuum and grind, converting the collected dust into bricks for alternative use on construction sites. This would contribute to cleaner and more environmentally friendly construction sites and better cradle-to-cradle management of resources.

In construction today, you have to go green

"When it comes to balancing cost and green initiatives in construction, we take a comprehensive approach that aligns environmental stewardship with cost-effectiveness. We work closely with our clients to ensure all our projects are GreenRE certified," Gan informed.

GreenRE certification is an assessment of the sustainability and performance of a building according to a set of tools and guidelines issued by GreenRE, Malaysia's largest green building certification body.

SSBB also leverages incentives offered in the regulatory landscape including tax benefits that support green initiatives which can significantly offset upfront costs, making green construction more financially viable. He said SSBB complies with green certification requirements by ensuring the companies it works with are also GreenRE certified.

We comply with green certification requirements and also ensure companies we work with are GreenRE certified.

He acknowledged that green technologies or materials come with higher upfront costs, however, the lifecycle cost analysis often reveals significant savings over the operational lifespan of the building. Incorporating energy-efficient features, such as solar panels, LED lighting, and advanced insulation, which lead to substantial energy savings, lowering utility bills for occupants.

According to Gan, as innovative solutions providers for the building and infrastructure construction industry, SSBB seeks to synergise its green practices through technology.

"When we use BIM technology, our construction plans are audited efficiently. This will save us a lot of time and cost, and emphasises the safety of our workers on site," he explained.

He pointed out that SSBB also incorporates green practices from a project's inception, factoring in passive design features which optimise the building's layout, orientation, and systems to minimise energy consumption and waste.

Steadfast in its green mission, SSBB shoulders the responsibility to educate and spur awareness among its stakeholders to realise the longterm benefits of green initiatives and stimulate a willingness to invest in sustainable practices and technologies.

Coping with the challenges

As the economy revives post pandemic, prospects in construction began to emerge, however, challenges from supply chain disruption to labour shortages plague margins and timely delivery. To overcome the delays in obtaining essential construction materials, SSBB diversified its supplier-base and explored more local sourcing options.

"Sourcing local options has multiple benefits, as not only did we overcome the delays and additional logistics costs, we have contributed to growing local SMEs and stimulating the domestic industry. Also, we have managed to secure a steady supply well into the future, improving margins," explained Gan.

To address the labour shortages that persist even after the pandemic, SSBB invests in upskilling and reskilling its workforce, while leveraging its strength in technology to increase productivity and enhance efficiency, contributing towards the company's long-term sustainability.

We were shielded by the worst of the pandemic due to our role as consultants as well as our strong industry partnerships.

Gan pointed out that SSBB was somewhat shielded by the worst of the pandemic due to its role as consultants in the construction industry mitigated by the spread of projects it was involved in.

"Our strong industry partnerships and the fact that we operate an asset-light model contributed to our resilience during these challenging times," Gan revealed.

Dynamic market signals good potential for growth

SSBB focuses on the affordable residential sector, a segment experiencing rapid growth to cater for the nation's urbanisation needs. As of March 2023, the company reported RM738 million worth of projects completed, while its outstanding order book is worth RM603 million. The company actively seeks new projects to bolster its order book and with the government emphasising the rakyat's housing needs, SSBB is well-positioned for a busy and prosperous outlook over the next two to three years.

When asked about the plans for the future, Gan, a Masters of Eng graduate from the University of Sheffield, confidently replied 'we are currently preparing for our debut on the Main Board of Bursa Malaysia.' "Our earnings outlook appears promising, given our strong order book. At this juncture, I am confident that we are well-positioned to sustain our growth and further expand our business," he reinforced.

Gan believes in a hands-on approach to managing the organisation he inherited from his father, founded in 2010. Motivated by a sense of duty and responsibility towards his family, Gan pushes himself to excel, as he is 'resolute not to disappoint them.'

According to Gan, SSBB is actively exploring partnerships with other companies to pioneer robotic construction technologies within Malaysia, in line with its goals to broaden its geographical reach and vary revenue streams.

"We have widely implemented the IBS across the majority of our development and construction projects. This strategic move aims to enhance both productivity and quality," he added. SSBB's focus on IBS exemplifies its dedication to refining operations and maintaining competitiveness

In assuming a leadership role, we must acknowledge the individuals who uphold our vision and objectives, as their support is paramount to our effectiveness.

within the industry, as it remains focused on the development of innovative technologies and enhancing operational efficiency.

The company assumed its listed status on Bursa Securities's ACE Market in November 2022, following a reverse takeover of G Neptune Bhd by Southern Score Sdn Bhd. The regularisation plan came with a profit guarantee of RM80 million over the period of 2022 to 2024, which SSBB is confident of meeting given its prospects. The company recorded net profits of RM35.18 million in the financial year ended 31 December 2021, while net profits in the similar period of the preceding two years was recorded at RM6.51 million and RM19.20 million respectively. In February 2023, SSBB announced the change of its financial year end from 31 December to 30 June. The company recorded profits of RM25.4 million for the six months ended 30 June 2023.

ccording to Bank Negara Malaysia (BNM) Governor Datuk Abdul Rasheed Ghaffour, the National Energy Transition Roadmap (NETR) and New Industrial Master Plan (NIMP) are expected to accelerate the country's transition and open large investment opportunities.

The central bank, along with the Securities Commission Malaysia, has focused efforts on laying down relevant building blocks for a conducive green finance ecosystem to facilitate a just and orderly transition. Frameworks and practical tools such as the climate change and principle-based taxonomy, sectoral guides, and climate risk management and scenario analysis policy document have been developed as guidance for the industry in building its climate resilience as well as capability in contributing towards transition.

Macroeconomic stability, a strong and stable financial sector, and sound policymaking institutions have been essential factors supporting Malaysia's economic development journey thus far. He was speaking during a panel discussion titled "Macro Resilience and Market Insights" at Invest Malaysia New York organised by Bursa Malaysia.

BNM's mandate reaffirms its commitment to promote monetary and financial stability conducive to the sustainable growth of the Malaysian economy. Malaysia's growth will continue to be driven by resilient domestic expenditure underpinned by continued employment and wage growth. He added that investment activity will be supported by the continued progress of multi-year infrastructure projects and implementation of catalytic initiatives under the recently announced national master plans. Domestic financial conditions also remain conducive to financial intermediation amid sustained credit growth.

On the Ringgit, he said that despite the depreciation during 1H 2023, the local currency and several regional currencies have strengthened against the US dollar since July 1, 2023. He added that recently, the Ringgit appreciated against most major trade partners' currencies.

Looking ahead, he expects further clarity on the end of the monetary policy tightening cycle by major central banks to provide support to the Ringgit and emerging market currencies in general. He stressed that the value of the Ringgit is market-determined. The presence in the foreign exchange market is only to prevent excessive volatility and to ensure orderly market conditions and that there is no target of any specific level for the Ringgit.

Malaysia's portfolio investors and its financial markets are progressive, dynamic and supported by steady market development. He concluded by saying that the Malaysian government bond market stands out as one of the largest and most developed in the region. And that it remains stable and liquid with attractive real yields to investors.

Malaysia's economy expected to continue to moderate in the near term - DOSM

According to Department of Statistics Malaysia (DOSM) Chief statistician Datuk Seri Mohd Uzir Mahidin, Malaysia's economy is expected to continue to moderate in the near term, based on data in July and August. Malaysia's economy exhibited moderate growth during the first half of 2023, expanding by 4.2%. The half-year performance came after a 5.6% growth in the first quarter and a 2.9% growth in the second quarter. Total trade in July 2023 declined 14.4% from RM252.8 billion in the same month last year to RM216.4 billion. Exports shrank 13.1% to RM116.8 billion, while imports contracted 15.9% to RM99.7 billion. Meanwhile, the trade surplus increased 7.9% from the previous year to RM17.1 billion.

Malaysia's total trade registered a value of RM213.0 billion, with a contraction of 19.8% or RM52.7 billion, while exports and imports recorded a negative double-digit growth at 18.6% and 21.2% respectively, year-on-year. On the contrary, the trade surplus increased marginally by 0.1% to post a value of RM17.3 billion.

In July 2023, Malaysia's Industrial Production Index (IPI) rebounded to 0.7% in July 2023, from -2.2% in the previous month. The marginal increase in July 2023 was supported by growth in the mining sector (4.2%) and the electricity sector (1.5%). The manufacturing sector remained negative, although at a lower rate of 0.2%.

At the same time, the value of manufacturing sales in Malaysia totalled RM144.0 billion in July 2023, down for a second consecutive month, decreasing to -3.0% year-on-year (y-o-y), from -4.0% in the preceding month. The performance was primarily influenced by continuous decline in the petroleum, chemical, rubber and plastic sub-sector, reaching to -15.3% during the month. The sales value of export-oriented industries, which represented 72.1% of total sales, continued to decline by 7.0% in July 2023, versus June's -7.4%.

The performance of domestic-oriented industries remained vigorous, reaching 9.2% in July 2023, compared to 6.8% in June 2023, mitigating the impact of deterioration in the export-oriented industries.

Median monthly salaries and wages up 7.7% in 2022 after RM1,500 minimum wage implementation – DOSM

According to chief statistician Datuk Seri Dr Mohd Uzir Mahidin, the median monthly salaries and wages rose 7.7% in 2022 to RM2,424, from RM2,250 in 2021 after Malaysia implemented the minimum wage of RM1,500 in May last year.

In a statement, he attributed the increase to continuous economic and social activities, supported by increasing tourist arrivals and improvements in the labour market, especially in the services sector. The Malaysian government had increased the minimum wage to RM1,500 starting from May 2022, mandating a monthly wage of RM1,500 for employees in all sectors, as a measure that is expected to improve overall salaries and wages conditions in the country as compared to the previous years.

This situation is reflected by the increase in the median monthly salaries and wages received by Malaysian citizens in 2022 which rose by 7.7% to RM2,424 (2021: RM2,250). About 50% of full-time citizen workers received salaries and wages of RM2,424 and below in 2022. Likewise, the mean monthly salaries and wages received by Malaysians in 2022 rose by 5.8%, registering RM3,212 compared to RM3,037 in 2021.

Mean monthly salaries for all sectors, skilled employees increase

By economic activity, all sectors recorded increases in mean monthly salaries and wages in 2022. The services sector, which was the largest sector in the economy, recorded the highest number of salary and wage recipients, particularly in the sub-sector of wholesale and retail trade activities, education, food and beverages (F&B) and accommodation. This was followed by the manufacturing sector.

The services sector recorded an increase in mean monthly salaries and wages of 5% while the manufacturing sector notched an increase in mean monthly salaries and wages of 7.9%. The mean monthly salaries and wages for skilled employees also increased by 3.7%, registering an additional RM177 to RM5,025 compared to RM4,848 in 2021.

Among skilled employees, managers took home the highest mean monthly salaries and wages at RM6,385, increased by 1.4% as against RM6,296 in 2021 and followed by professionals (RM5,900) and technicians and associate professionals (RM3,668).

The mean monthly salaries and wages of semi-skilled employees rose to RM2,241 (2021: RM2,064), particularly contributed by clerical support workers (RM2,555), followed by plant and machine operators and assemblers (RM2,158), craft and related trades workers (RM2,154) and services and sales workers (RM2,139). The low-skilled category, which includes elementary workers, also increased by RM66 to RM1,815 as compared to RM1,749 in the previous year.

$\cdot$ Mean monthly salaries for urban and rural areas continue to rise

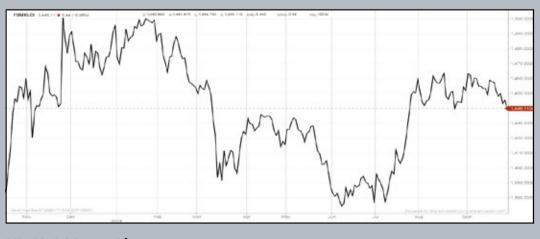

Meanwhile, the mean monthly salaries and wages for both urban and rural areas recorded an upward trend to RM3,351 for urban areas and RM2,393 for rural areas as compared to 2021. Specifically, the mean monthly salaries and wages in urban areas posted a growth of 5.1% (2021: RM3,188, +3.2%), while rural areas exhibited a relatively more substantial growth of 10.5% (2021: RM2,166, +3.9%).

By states, Putrajaya recorded the highest mean monthly salaries and wages at RM4,666. Four other states surpassed the national mean level of RM3,212, namely Kuala Lumpur (RM4,207), Selangor (RM3,737), Labuan (RM3,418) and Pulau Pinang (RM3,313).

SHAREHOLDERS STAND TO GAIN WITH MORE WOMEN DIRECTORS AND IDS ON BOARD

Devanesan Evanson

Chief Executive Officer, Minority Shareholders Watch Group ontract manufacturer of automated industrial equipment Genetec Technology Bhd should not consider as burdensome the criteria set forth by the Securities Commission Malaysia (SC) that its proposed listing transfer to the Main Market of Bursa Malaysia can only materialise upon its corporate governance enhancement by raising the number of independent directors on its board to over 50% and women directors to 30%. Reading between the lines, these are two requirements that aspiring debutants to the Main Market must comply with.

In a stock exchange filing dated 24 August 2023, Genetec announced that the SC had in principle approved its proposed transfer from the ACE Market under Section 214(1) of the Capital Markets and Services Act 2007 and under the Bumiputera equity requirement for public listed companies. But the transfer is subject to the Group implementing "appropriate actions to remedy the non-adoption with Practices 5.2 and 5.9 of the Malaysian Code on Corporate Governance (MCCG).

FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 29 2023 Invest | 36

For the uninitiated, Practice 5.2 of MCCG recommends at least half of a company's board be comprised of independent directors. The board of Large Companies must comprise a majority of independent directors (IDs). Large companies are defined as companies on the FBM Bursa Malaysia Top 100 Index or those with a market capitalisation of RM2 billion and above. Meanwhile, Practice 5.9 requires boardrooms to comprise at least 30% women directors.

Genetec's current boardroom consists of seven members – three of whom are independent – but with only one female on its board. In all frankness, minority shareholders should hail the condition imposed by the market regulator as not something restrictive but rather as something beneficial in terms of enhancement to shareholders' value to the Group whose clientele includes suppliers to electric vehicle behemoth Tesla.

DIVERSITY PAYS

In pushing for more diverse boards, especially on the gender dimension, the revised MCCG 2021 has recommended that all boards to comprise at least 30% women directors. Similarly, the Institutional Investors Council Malaysia (IIC) which comprises large institutional investors such as EPF, PNB, KWAP and Khazanah, too, had in their Malaysian Code for Institutional Investors 2022 clearly laid expectations for investee companies to comprise at least 30% women representation on their boards within three years. The IIC's stance is in line with the large global institutional investors such as BlackRock who have started voting against companies with all-male boards.

As a result of persistent efforts undertaken by various stakeholders, Malaysia has made much progress along the gender diversity front in the past decade. Across the entire population of PLCs listed on Bursa Malaysia, the average percentage of women directors currently stand at approximately 22% as of 1 May 2023. In fact, according to the Gender Equality in Corporate Leadership: Regional Analysis Report published in December 2022 by the United Nations Sustainable Stock Exchange Initiative, Malaysia is one of only four emerging markets where more than 20% of the top 100 PLCs' board seats are held by women. It is worth noting that the report covered 3,246 PLCs on 35 stock exchanges across seven regions around the world.

Despite the considerable progress observed over the years, a number of challenges persist in the journey towards achieving the aspirational target of 30% women on Boards. One such challenge is to tackle the phenomenon of some PLCs continuing the practice of having an all-male Board.

Thus, to catalyse change, Bursa Malaysia had on January 2022 announced the requirement for PLCs with a market capitalisation of RM2 billion as at 31 December 2021 to appoint at least one woman board member by 1 September 2022. For the remaining PLCs, the requirement must be complied with by 1 June 2023.

As of 1 June 2023, Bursa Malaysia has publicly named 24 PLCs that have yet to appoint at least one woman director, thus failing to comply with the requirement stipulated by the Exchange. It has to be realised that moving forward, promoting diversity across all PLCs will continue to be a key agenda championed by Bursa Malaysia. This commitment demonstrates an appreciation of the wealth of benefits derived from having a diverse board such as improved decision-making, enhanced ability to attract talent, increased resilience and stronger stakeholder relationships while contributing to nation building.

Specifically, starting from the financial year ending 31 December 2023, Main Market PLCs are required to effectively manage diversity within their respective organisations by implementing relevant policies, processes and initiatives to promote diversity – and making corresponding disclosures within their Sustainability Statement or Report.

On the same note, ACE Market PLCs will be subject to these requirements from the financial year ending 31 December 2025. To further enhance transparency and accountability, Bursa Malaysia will also be mandating all PLCs to report on the following two indicators to show improvements over time:

- Percentage of directors by gender and age group
- Percentage of employees by gender and age group for each employee category.

KEY ADVANTAGES OF INDEPENDENT DIRECTORS

In the same light as how gender diversity by upping board participation for women to 30% can enhance board robustness and efficiency, raising the percentage of independent directors in a company's board to over 50%, too, is a welcome move for they are able to offer unbiased assessment on thorny issues within a PLC's corporate structure.

Here are four advantages of how having an independent director-heavy board can raise the corporate structure bar:

Independent directors bring a fresh perspective: Expect independent directors to bring clarity and objectivity to the table by complementing the rest of the board's understanding while providing a critical perspective and challenging the status quo, especially in the context of closely-knit family businesses.

A fresh set of highly developed skills: This includes possessing vast knowledge when it comes to finances, marketing, governance, transparency and strategy. On top of that, these talented individuals have their own resources and business networks that can be of benefit to the organisation.

A level head in times of conflict/deadlocks: When conflict of interest arises, independent directors can resolve the problem. As a neutral party, they may deter certain board members from making decisions for their own interests, arbitrate internal conflicts between board members or stakeholders, and ensure that all motions and transactions are passed in the best interest of the company and shareholders.

An objective evaluator for succession planning: When boards become too ingrained in the culture of the company, it can give them tunnel vision. There's a tendency to earmark future leaders and never revisit or reassess the situation whereas an independent director is far more likely to find those diamonds in the rough which are often overlooked by the board. Above all else, independent board members can also act as mentors to the next generation of family business leaders.
