Is Crescendo an investment opportunity?

SUMMARY

- Over the past 12 years, Crescendo had faced a declining trend in revenue, PAT, and gross profitability, mainly influenced by the soft Malaysian property market. There were corresponding declines in returns.
- But it outperformed Bursa's large property companies in terms of returns and operating efficiencies. The group is financially sound, reflected in its low Debt Equity ratio and good capital allocation.
- Crescendo's outlook is optimistic. Positioned near vital projects like Iskandar Malaysia and Pengerang Integrated Petroleum Complex, it is poised for growth in demand for both residential and industrial units.

INVESTMENT THESIS

Crescendo Corporation Berhad (CRESNDO:6718.MY) (Crescendo or the Group) is a property developer. As such its performance over the past 12 years has been impacted by the soft property market. Despite this environment, the Group managed to be profitable every year. But the property sector is cyclical and with the post-Covid-19 opening of the economy, the bottom of the cycle has been reached. I would expect the Group's performance to improve accordingly.

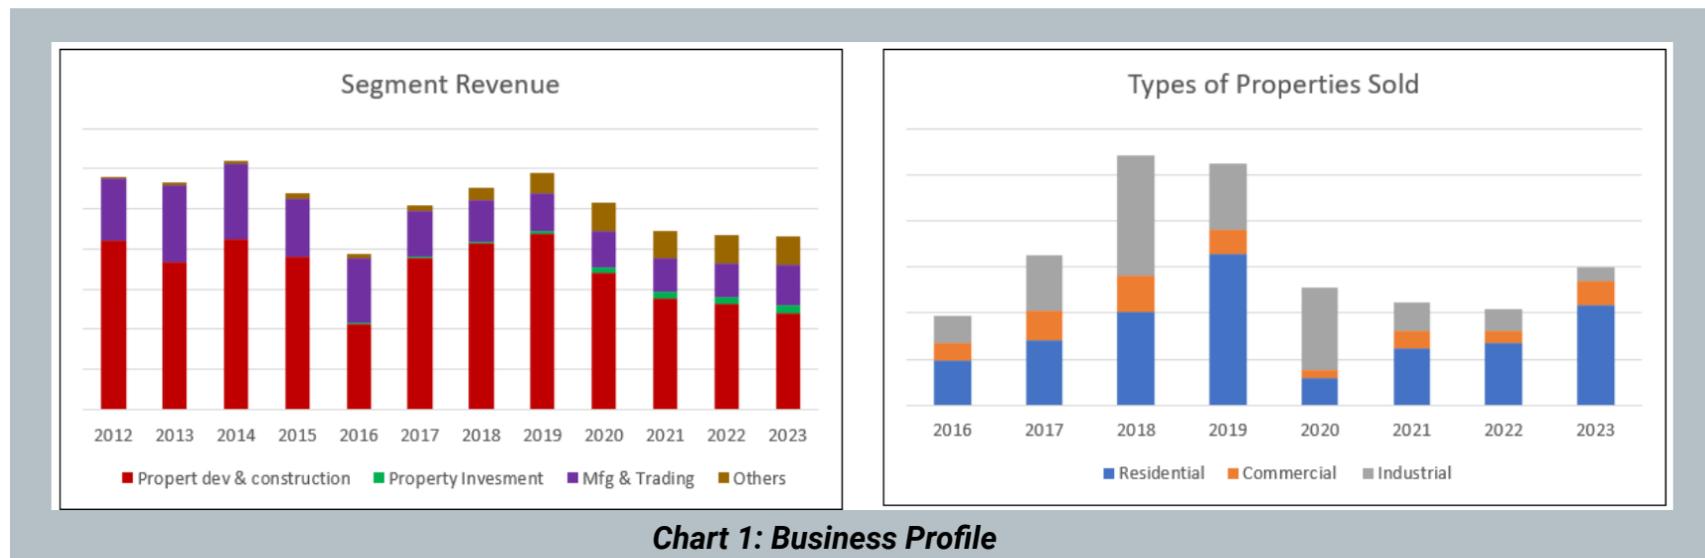

Crescendo is currently trading below its Asset Value with more than a 30% margin of safety. As a property company, the Asset Value is a good reflection of its intrinsic value.

COMPANY BACKGROUND

Listed on Bursa Malaysia in 1997, the Group traced its roots to 1985 with the conversion of 1,000 acres of oil palm plantation land in Johor into a development project known as Desa Cemerlang. Since then, it has grown into a diversified Group with 4 major businesses:

- The core business focuses on property development and construction, with a significant landbank of approximately 2,600 acres in Johor. The Group undertakes various development projects, including residential properties, shop offices, and factories. The construction arm focuses on in-house projects.
- In the manufacturing and trading division, the Group produces pre-cast concrete products for local and international markets.
- The property investment division manages 17 plots of land in Gelang Patah, Johor with completed and tenanted factories.
- The services division includes a college and an international school that offers a range of education programs from Cambridge A-Levels to primary and secondary education.

As can be seen from the left part of Chart 1, the property development and construction segment is the biggest revenue contributor. This is followed by the manufacturing and trading segment.

In terms of property development, the Group focuses on township and industrial properties. You can get a good sense of this by looking at the types of properties sold over the past 8 years as illustrated in the right part of Chart 1.

- About 51% were residential units.
- About 35% were industrial units.

About half of Crescendo’s landbank is within Iskandar Malaysia. Furthermore, it has about 800 acres of land near the Pengerang Integrated Petroleum Complex. The location of the landbank augurs well for the future:

- Iskandar Malaysia is the main southern development corridor in Johor. It is formed by major cities such as Johor Bahru, Iskandar Puteri, and Pasir Gudang, together with their surrounding areas. It is Malaysia's second largest urban agglomeration with a population of 2.5 million, after Greater Kuala Lumpur.
- Pengerang Integrated Petroleum Complex is a megaproject development in Johor. It spans an area of 80 km<sup>2</sup> and is one big step in creating value for the downstream oil and gas value chain in Johore.

OPERATING TRENDS

I tracked 3 metrics over the past 12 years to get a sense of the business performance – revenue, PAT, and gross profitability (gross profits/total assets). Refer to the left portion of Chart 2.

You can see that over the past 12 years, there was no growth for all the 3 metrics. The respective values in 2023 were smaller than those in 2012. You can also see spikes in PAT due to the following:

- The substantial increase in profit in 2014 was the result of a change in sales mix and fair value changes of investment properties amounting to RM39 million.
- The profit in 2015 remained high due to the fair value gain in investment properties of RM85.5 million.
- There was a gain from fair value adjustment on investment properties amounting to RM41.4 million for 2017.

Given these results, you should not be surprised to see declining returns. Refer to the right part of Chart 2. While you can see the cyclical patterns, they were overshadowed by the declining trends.

Over the past 12 years, the ROE declined from 11.7% in 2012 to 2.6% in 2023. The average ROE over this period was 6.8%.

Chart 2: Performance Index and Return

Note to the Performance Index chart: To plot the various metrics onto one chart, I converted them into indices by dividing the values for each year by the respective 2012 values.

As a property company, the performance of Crescendo had been impacted by the soft property market. The Malaysian property market is a cyclical one and I have opined that we are probably at the bottom of the cycle. Refer to my article on Glomac in Invest #193 for more details about this.

You may think that Crescendo's performance was bad. However, when you compare its performance with those of the Bursa large property companies, Crescendo only did badly in terms of revenue growth. In terms of returns and operating efficiencies, it did better than the Bursa large property companies. Refer to Table 1.

Metrics	Sector (a)	Crescendo (b)
ROA	3.4%	5.2%
Revenue growth	3.2%	-2.9%
Gross profitability	6.8%	7.5%
Asset turnover	20%	22%

Table 1: Sector comparison

a) The sector performance was based on the 2012 to 2022 median of the Bursa property companies with shareholders' funds > RM 1 billion. It was based on the updated base rates data presented in my article "Will the Malaysian Property Industry turn around by 2024?".

b) Crescendo's performance was based on the average over the same period.

FINANCIAL STATUS

I would rate the Group as financially sound based on the following:

- It had a Debt Equity ratio of 0.29 in 2023. The Group Debt Equity ratio had not gone beyond 0.4 over the past decade.
- As of FYE 2023, the Group had RM87 million cash. This is about 6% of its total assets.

Over the past 12 years, there were only 3 years when the Group incurred negative Cash flow from Operations. During this period, the Group generated RM303 million Cash flow from Operations compared to its total PAT of RM654 million. While this was not a good cash conversion rate, it was offset by its good capital allocation plan.

During the period, the Group sourced about RM494 million of funds. About 2/3 of this was from the Cash flow from Operations with the balance from new Equity and Debt. Note that the new Equity came from the conversion of ICULs and warrants.

About half of the funds were used for CAPEX with the majority of the balance returned to shareholders in the form of dividends. Refer to Table 2.

Item	Sources RM m	Uses RM m
Cash flow from Ops	303
New shares	49
Debt	141
Net CAPEX		246
Dividends		222
Buybacks		3
Cash, Misc		23
Total	494	494

VALUATION

I used 2 key approaches to assess the intrinsic value of Crescendo:

- Asset Value: I used the Book Value here of RM3.32 per share
- Earnings Value of RM4.64 per share: I consider the EPV based on average earnings over the past 12 years plus the value of the non-operating assets. My non-operating assets include excess land held for development as well as an estimate of the land re-valuation surplus. They are too complicated to be explained here. But if you want to know more, read my original blog article.

Chart 3 summarizes the picture. With the market price of RM2.51 per share (as of 29 Feb 2024) you can see that there is margin of safety based on both the Earnings Value and Asset Value.

For property companies, the Asset Value can be considered a floor value. As such I have taken a conservative approach to rely on this. Based on the Asset Value of RM3.32 per share, there is a 32% margin of safety.

LIMITATIONS AND RISKS

In interpreting the valuation results, you should consider the following:

As a property developer, a significant part of Crescendo’s assets is tied up in hard assets. This is illustrated in Table 3 which breaks down the various components of the 2023 Book Value. You can see that development land and investment properties make up a big portion of the Asset Value.

Item	RM per share
PPE	0.47
Dev land & Investment Properties	3.41
Net current assets	0.36
Others	-0.91
Total	3.32

Table 3: Components of Asset Value

The concern with Asset value is the potential impairment of under-utilized assets. As the Group was profitable over the past 12 years, there were no impairment provisions.

The fair market value of its investment properties is about 10% higher than the Book Value. Moreover, the value of the land bank was based on acquisition dates and/or revaluation dates that were more than a decade old. I would thus consider the Asset Value as realistic. If the Group was to carry out a re-valuation exercise today, there would be a significant re-valuation surplus.

CONCLUSION

Crescendo is a niche property developer. It focuses on industrial properties and townships in Johor. The Group's performance over the past few years was affected by the Malaysian soft property market. But there are signs that the Malaysian property cycle has reached its bottom. As such I would expect the Group's performance to improve in the coming years.

Over the mid-to-long term, Crescendo would benefit from being near the 2 most important projects in Johor – Iskandar Malaysia and Pengerang Integrated Petroleum Complex. I see the former as driving the demand for residential units. The latter would drive the demand for both residential and industrial units.

The Group is financially sound and has been profitable during the trough part of the cycle. Thus, it would be able to withstand any prolonged trough. But this allows it to improve its returns when the property market picks up.

UNLOCK THE SECRET OF WEALTH

PM INVITES GERMAN, EU FIRMS TO INVEST IN MALAYSIA

Prime Minister Datuk Seri Anwar Ibrahim issued an open invitation to German firms, as well as businesses across Europe. He invited companies to engage, invest, and partner with Malaysia, which is dynamic, strategic and growing. He said Malaysia has a skilled labour force, modern infrastructure, a clear regulatory environment and huge growth potential.

In his keynote address at the SME Day, he said that Malaysia is a dynamic economic fit for the 21st century and the perfect partner for German businesses. The event was held at the Berlin Station and organised by the German Association for Small and Medium-sized Businesses (BVMW), which brought together about 5,000 SMEs with prominent government and corporate figures.

He said Malaysia also provides Germany with a strategic gateway into the wider ASEAN market adding that the region is set to emerge as the world's fifth-largest economy by 2030 and as such, is primed for exponential growth.

Germany has remained Malaysia's top trading partner in the European Union, while Malaysia is now the country's largest trading partner in Southeast Asia. Bilateral trade has grown at an annual average of 5.2%. Malaysia continues to be an attractive destination for FDIs with German companies investing €8.5 billion (RM43.6 billion) as of 2023. He concluded saying that foreign investors can benefit from various efforts taken by the Malaysian government to ease the doing of business, build confidence in the Malaysian system and ultimately, ensure long-term stability in the country.

TARGET TO HAVE 100 LOCAL TECH COMPANIES WITH RM1B REVENUE BY 2030 - MITI

According to Ministry of Investment, Trade and Industry (MITI) Deputy Minister Liew Chin Tong, MITI is aiming for Malaysia to have 100 local technology companies with annual revenue of RM1 billion by 2030. The government will continue to support local companies in research and development (R&D) and innovation by providing assistance to small and medium enterprises (SMEs) nationwide. Various types of assistance are being provided by MITI and its agencies including financing assistance, advisory services and business guidance to strengthen the SME value chain. He said this in winding up the debate on the Motion of Thanks for the Royal Address in the Dewan Rakyat and in response to Datuk Seri Amirudin Shari's (PH-Gombak) proposals to enhance collaborations among states and expand the market especially for SMEs by building a national innovation system.

He added that MITI, through the Malaysian Investment Development Authority, is spearheading efforts to boost collaborations among Selangor, Kuala Lumpur, Melaka and Negeri Sembilan. The effort is aimed at developing joint industrial clusters, including for the aerospace industry and global services hub.

COSTLIER BUILDING MATERIALS A CRITICAL ISSUE FOR PROPERTY DEVELOPERS — REHDA

A ccording to Real Estate and Housing Developers' Association (REHDA) president Datuk NK Tong, a majority of its members faced construction challenges in the second half of 2023 (2H2023), with a little over half remarking that costlier building materials critically impacted their business operations.

In its Property Industry Survey for 2H2023 and Market Outlook for 2024, the association revealed that 56% of the respondents comprising REHDA members admitted that they face construction challenges in 2H2023, as they see shortage of supply and inconsistent supply as moderate issues while low-quality products are deemed a minor issue. The construction challenges are an ongoing issue that has been exacerbated by the Covid-19 pandemic, and is not showing signs of going away in the near future.

He said that increase in prices of building materials means higher construction costs, which will end up hurting the rakyat. He hopes that this issue will be addressed effectively, and that all industry players will play their roles to ensure Malaysians are not further affected by the increase. The respondents reported more than 10% annual increase in average price for sand and concrete as at Dec 31, 2023. Looking ahead, the respondents are expecting an average increase of 15% in construction costs in the first half of 2024, which inevitably will result in higher property prices.

The survey also found that overall residential launches and performance in 2H2023 experienced a downward turn compared to the first half of the year, but sales performance reported a marginal increase. The findings reported 4,627 out of 12,017 sold units were new launches in 2H2023, while the remaining 61.5% were from unsold units launched before the period under review. The survey results also disclosed a higher number of unsold completed units in the RM300,001 – RM400,000 category, which is considered to be within the affordable homes range, at 11% in 2H2023 compared to 3% in 1H2023.

He said that as much as this could be a sign of unaffordability among the B40 and lower M40 categories, this is also affecting developers who have taken up the cross-subsidy method to build these houses. Not only that the sales of their open market units are affected due to the higher price, but so are the sales of their affordable units that they had to cross-subsidise for.

UNEXPECTED AUDITOR RESIGNATION - A TELLTALE SIGN FOR INVESTORS

Appointment and resignation of auditors are routine for businesses. Section 281 of the Companies Act 2016 (CA2016) states that an auditor may resign his office by giving a notice of resignation to the company at the company's registered office. The auditor's term of office shall end after 21 days from the date on which the notice is given or from the date as may be specified in the notice.

While familiarity fosters efficiency, it also breeds complacency. Therefore, companies are encouraged to periodically rotate their audit firms as part of sound corporate governance practice. However, seeing external auditors resign before their term ends without prior indication is probably a telltale sign that things are not right.

A SURPRISE TWIST OF EVENT

A recent case that has raised eyebrows in the investing fraternity is the recent announcement by Perak-based property developer YNH Property Bhd that its external auditors Baker Tilly Monteiro Heng PLT (Baker Tilly) would not seek re-appointment at the former's forthcoming AGM on 8 Dec 2023. The announcement was made three days before the AGM. Intriguingly, Baker Tilly expressed their willingness to continue in office as stated in YNH's Annual Report 2023 issued on 30 October 2023.

The resignation resulted in YNH having to withdraw a resolution which was intended to re-appoint Baker Tilly as its auditor and to authorise the YNH board to fix its remuneration from the Notice of its 21st AGM. Subsequently, Baker Tilly ceased to hold office at the conclusion of YNH's AGM pursuant to Section 273(b) of the CA2016.

As we delve into the details, the resignation of Baker Tilly is not as straightforward as it seems.

Firstly, Baker Tilly already expressed its intention to continue in office, suggesting that it is prepared to continue carrying on its role and duties, so why the abrupt resignation at the eleventh hour before the AGM? YNH did not shed light on the reason for Baker Tilly's resignation in its announcement dated 5 December 2023.

Secondly, on 27 October 2023, Baker Tilly issued a qualified opinion on YNH's financial statements for the 18-month period ended 30 June 2023 in relation to the group's joint venture (JV) and turnkey contracts for property development work. The auditor highlighted RM1.1 billion which had been included in YNH's inventories regarding the contracts entered into with the JV parties or landowners. Meanwhile, RM97.5 million was paid to the landowners during the financial period.

Besides, as the Group was subjected to queries and investigations by regulatory authorities regarding the JV and turnkey contracts during the said financial period, Baker Tilly said it had undertaken extended audit procedures as well as actively engaged with YNH's directors and its audit committee concerning the JV and turnkey contracts. However, it could not obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence that the JV and turnkey contracts entered with the respective JV parties or landowners are not related party transactions given the prevailing ongoing regulatory authorities' investigations and the Group's special review which have not been completed.

POTENTIAL RED FLAG

The abrupt resignation of external auditors midway through their tenure often raises concern, particularly when adequate explanations are lacking. Often, companies offer boilerplate explanations, asserting that auditors resigned voluntarily. Occasionally, explanations such as manpower constraints and disagreement over audit fees are cited. However, in many cases, these explanations serve to obscure underlying issues.

For instance, consider the recent case of a solar company that reported significant impairments worth hundreds of millions shortly after its auditor, who had served just slightly more than a year, resigned due to a "disagreement on unreasonable audit fee." Subsequently, the company incurred losses for the first time since going public. It took six months to appoint a new auditor and changed its financial year, underscoring the disruption caused by the resignation.

Similarly, let us not forget the saga involving Serba Dinamik Holdings Berhad. When KPMG PLT resigned following Serba Dinamik's decision to pursue legal action over audit matters, it signalled deeper underlying problems. KPMG flagged audit issues involving transactions of more than RM3.5 billion in Serba Dinamik and resigned as its auditor on 24 June 2021 after the latter filed a court action against it. Alas, Serba Dinamik, once a stock market darling, saw its shares suspended, and it now faces liquidation, seeking white knights to participate in its restructuring exercise.

There have been numerous expressions of frustration among external auditors over the years that led to their sudden resignation but the reasons behind such action were obscured by the generic justifications, claiming auditors left voluntarily. Given the pivotal role external auditors play as guardians in the corporate governance framework, stakeholders rightly expect transparency regarding the circumstances surrounding auditor resignations, either from the company itself or directly from the auditors.
