Is there an investment opportunity in UNIVERSAL STAINLESS

SUMMARY

- Over the past 12 years, Universal Stainless & Alloy Products, Inc.'s (Nasdaq:USAP) performance has been cyclical, with revenue, PAT, and gross profitability fluctuating with raw material price cycles.

Disclaimer: This article is written for informational purposes only. It does not constitute a solicitation, offer, advice, counseling or recommendation to buy or sell. As such it is not intended to promote the purchase of shares in any way. As a reminder, any type of asset has a risk factor and needs to be evaluated from multiple perspectives. Therefore, any investment decision and the associated risk remains with the investor. The views expressed here are entirely the writer's own.

- Revenue growth has been minimal, driven mainly by higher average selling prices rather than increased shipment volumes. Shipment volumes have been declining. The company was operating below its breakeven levels for many years.
- I also have concerns about the company's financial position. At the same time, my valuation based on cyclical averages suggests no margin of safety. You can understand why I don't see this as an investment opportunity.

BACKGROUND

Universal Stainless makes specialty steel products, including stainless steel, nickel alloys, tool steel, and other premium alloyed steel. The company uses key raw materials like scrap metal (carbon and stainless steel) and alloys to produce these. The main alloys include nickel, chromium, molybdenum, vanadium, and copper.

Universal Stainless products are used in various industries. The company's customers fall into five main groups: service centres, manufacturers (OEMs), rollers, forgers, and others. As shown in the left part of Chart 1, most of their sales came from service centres. These customers take the steel and process it further for use in different industries. Over the years, a large portion of Universal Stainless's steel has been used in the aerospace sector. Refer to the right part of Chart 1.

Combining the two parts of Chart 1, it is clear that much of the steel sold to service centres eventually gets processed for the aerospace industry.

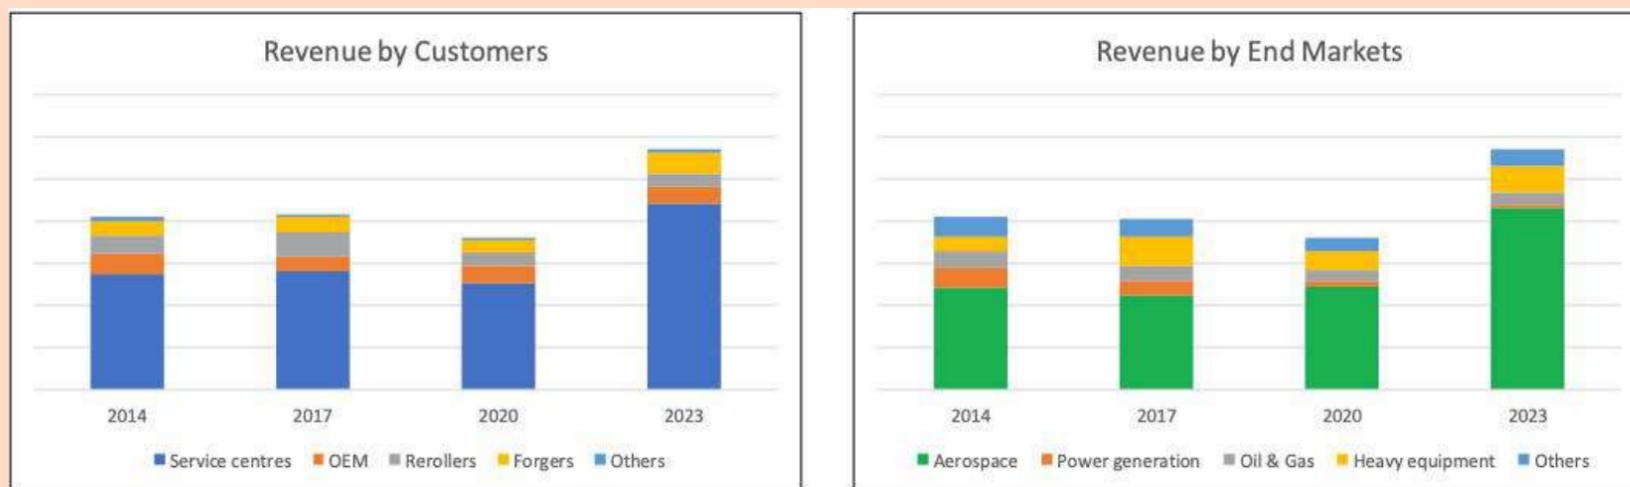

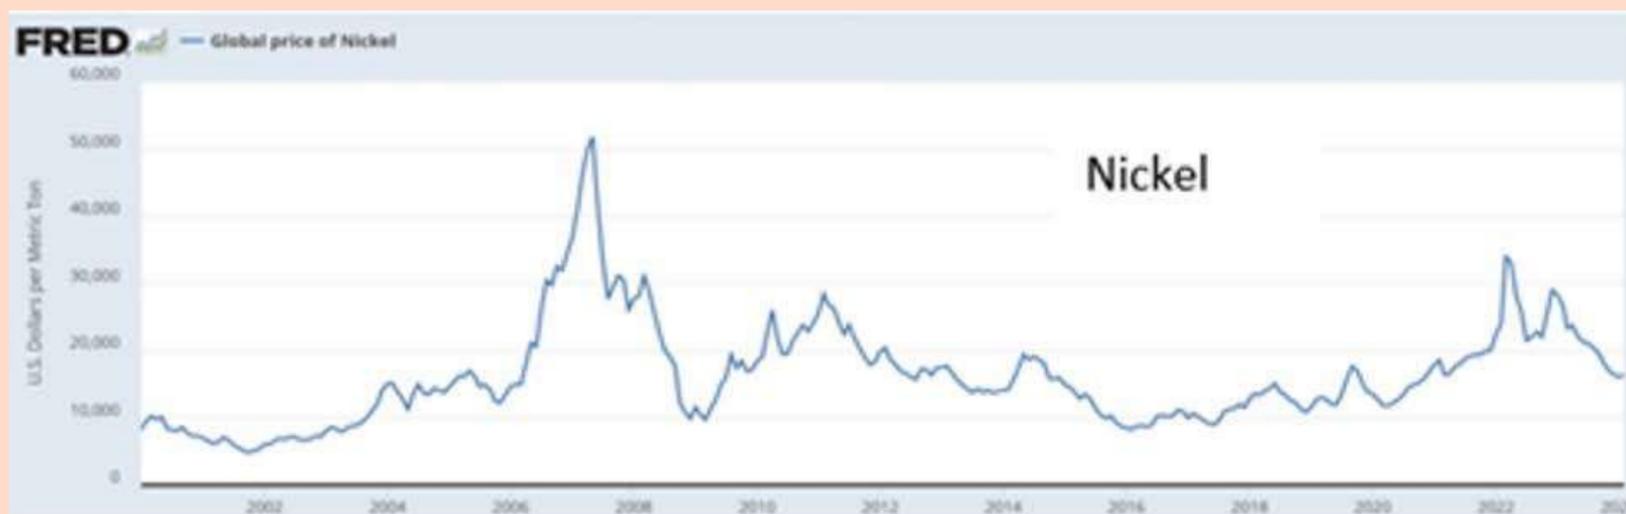

Chart 1: Revenue by customers and end markets

OPERATING PERFORMANCE

The steel industry is cyclical, as shown in Chart 2, which tracks prices for two key raw materials used by Universal Stainless: nickel, and iron & steel scrap. These prices peaked recently in 2022:

- The average nickel price in 2022 was 47% higher than its 2012 average. By 2023, this had fallen, remaining only 23% higher than in 2012.
- The average price of iron & steel scrap in 2022 was 14% higher than its 2012 average. By 2023, it had dropped to just 3% higher than in 2012.

The key takeaway is that, when assessing long-term performance, you should focus on average prices over the full cycle rather than just peak or current prices.

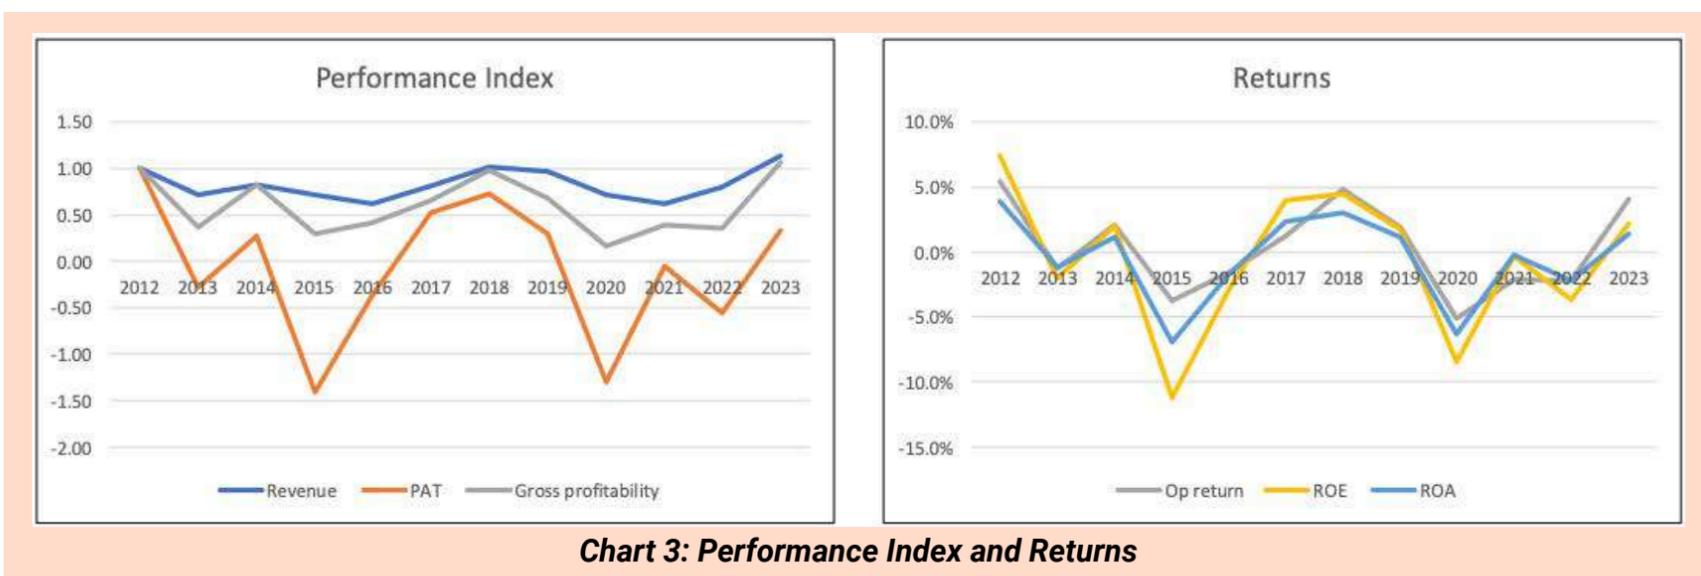

*Please refer to the disclaimer on first page and last page.

- The left side highlights trends in revenue, PAT, and gross profitability (gross profit/total assets).
- The right side shows trends in return metrics: operating return (NOPAT/total capital employed), ROE, and ROA.

Both sets of metrics display cyclical patterns, mirroring the ups and downs in raw material prices.

I would not consider Universal Stainless's performance over the past 12 years as good.

- With a 1.2% CAGR in revenue, there was hardly any growth.

- The PAT over the past 12 years was never higher than that achieved in 2012.
- The average ROE and ROA over the past 12 years were negative. This meant that USAP did not create any shareholders' value.

Universal Stainless's revenue depends on two key factors: shipment tonnage and the average selling price per ton. The left part of Chart 4 shows the trends for these two metrics.

- Over the past 12 years, there has been no growth in shipment volume.
- The revenue increase in 2022/23 was driven by higher average selling prices and not by a significant rise in shipment volume.

Without growth in shipment tonnage, the company's ability to improve performance remains uncertain.

At the same time, the company was operating below its breakeven levels for many years. Refer to the right part of Chart 4. In this chart, if the revenue for a particular year is lower than the total cost (fixed + variable) it signifies a loss for that year. Refer to the original article for details about the breakeven analysis.

Chart 4: Revenue Components and Operating Profit

Notes to Operating Profit: I broke down the operating profits into fixed costs and variable costs.

- Variable cost = 39% of the Cost of Sales.
- Fixed cost = 61% of the Cost of Sales + SGA + Depreciation & Amortization.
- Contribution = Revenue - Variable Cost.
- Contribution margin = Contribution/Revenue.

FINANCIAL POSITION

I have concerns about the company's financial strengths. While it has some positive points, they seem to be offset by the negative ones.

- It has a Debt Equity ratio of 27% as of the end of September 2024. This had improved from 45% as of the end of Dec 2022.
- While it had improved its cash conversion cycle in the past 2 years, the average for 2023/24 of 211 days was still high compared to 190 days for 2012/13.
- From 2012 to 2023 it generated USD127 million per year cash flow from operations. This was not enough to fund the cash required for investments of USD156 million.
- As of the end of Sep 2024, its cash had reduced to almost zero compared to USD2 million in Dec 2022.

VALUATION

In valuing Universal Stainless, I considered it a cyclical company. Refer to the original article for details of the valuation. I looked at 2 scenarios in valuing USAP:

- Scenario 1: I assumed that its shipment tonnage would match that achieved in 2012 of 47,802 tons. This is an optimistic scenario.
- Scenario 2: I assumed that its shipment tonnage would be the average shipment over the past 12 years of 35,755 tons.

Under Scenario 1, the estimated intrinsic value was USD32 per share. Under Scenario 2, I obtained a negative intrinsic value. The negative arose because the shipment tonnage was around the break-even level. I have valued USAP using the Free Cash Flow to the Firm model. To obtain the value of equity, I had to deduct Debt. This resulted in a negative value of equity. The market price of USAP as of the end of Dec 2024 was USD44 per share. You can see that there is no margin of safety under both scenarios.

CONCLUSION

My analysis views Universal Stainless as a cyclical company, and I believe I have provided sufficient evidence to support this perspective.

- Over the past 12 years, USAP's performance, measured by revenue, profit after tax (PAT), and gross profitability, has been cyclical.
- There is a strong link between USAP's average selling price and the prices of two key raw materials, both of which have shown cyclical patterns over the past 25 years.
- USAP has not been able to grow its revenue over the past 12 years.

This lack of revenue growth is due to declining shipment volumes. Additionally, while average selling prices have increased, they have only been enough to offset the declining shipment volumes.

Beyond this, USAP's returns have been not only cyclical but also declining. When combined with concerns about its financial position, it is clear that USAP is not fundamentally strong. There is also no margin of safety when viewed through the lens of its cyclical performance.

I am a long-term value investor who has held onto stocks for more than 5 years. My analysis and valuation are from such a perspective. I consider quarterly results "noisy" and focus on long-term trends.

This article was re-purposed from my article "Universal Stainless: It Was Profitable In 2023 Due To High Prices, But This Is Not Sustainable" which was first published in Seeking Alpha. Refer to this link for more of my insights on other US companies.

Meanwhile, Bermaz Auto Bhd, DRB-Hicom Bhd, Hibiscus Petroleum Bhd, Padini Holdings Bhd, and Ta Ann Holdings Bhd have been deleted from the Small Cap Index. These changes will also take effect at the close of trading on Feb 28.

The MSCI Malaysia Index, which tracks the performance of large and mid-cap stocks in the Malaysian market, currently comprises 32 constituents and represents about 85% of the country's equity universe. MALAYSIA'S WHOLESALE, RETAIL TRADE AT RECORD HIGH OF RM1.77 TRILLION IN 2024 - DOSM

A ccording to DOSM Chief statistician Datuk Seri Uzir Mahidin, Malaysia's full-year wholesale and retail trade sales surged to a record high of RM1.77 trillion in 2024, after recording RM152.2 billion in December, a 5.5% rise y-o-y. Wholesale trade recorded total sales of RM66.5 billion, an increase of RM3.6 billion, which translated to a y-o-y growth of 5.7%.

Retail trade recorded total sales of RM65.8 billion, an increase of RM3.4 billion, with a y-o-y growth of 5.4%. Motor vehicles sub-sector recorded total sales of RM19.9 billion, with a 6.9% y-o-y growth of RM1.3 billion growth.

The wholesale performed steadily, supported by other specialised wholesale, which grew by 3.6% to RM24.7 billion, primarily driven by petroleum-related products. Additionally, the wholesale of agricultural raw materials and live animals group recorded a substantial rise of 13.9% to RM6.6 billion, partly supported by a 40.0% rise in crude palm oil prices, surpassing RM5,000 per tonne for two consecutive months.

He added that growth was also underpinned by the wholesale of food, beverages and tobacco, which climbed 6.3 per cent, spurred by purchases in anticipation of school holidays, Christmas, and New Year celebrations.

In terms of volume index, wholesale and retail trade recorded a 4.4% y-o-y increase. Growth was primarily driven by the motor vehicles sub-sector, which rose by 5.5 per cent, followed by wholesale trade, which increased by 5.0%. After adjusting for seasonal variation, the volume index registered a 0.8 per cent month-on-month decline against November.

He noted that for the entire 2024, retail trade grew by 6.1% to RM764.9 billion, wholesale trade increased by 4.7% to RM782.1 billion, and motor vehicles saw a growth of 6.5% to RM219.1 billion. Malaysia's wholesale and retail trade sector demonstrated resilience in 2024, driven by strong consumer demand, increased tourism, and a stable economic environment. The sector is expected to maintain its momentum in 2025, supported by steady domestic consumption, international tourism, e-commerce expansion, and growing demand for electric vehicles.

However, inflationary pressures, subsidy rationalisation, and global economic uncertainty are expected to put some pressure on this sector.

HEINEKEN MALAYSIA REPORTS RECORD HIGH PROFIT FOR FY2024, PROPOSES SINGLE TIER FINAL DIVIDEND OF 115 SEN PER SHARE

Heineken Malaysia Berhad announced its financial results for the full year ended 31 December 2024, showing 6% revenue growth to RM2.80 billion and a 21% rise in net profit as compared to the same period in 2023. This marks the highest net profit recorded by the Group, driven by strategic commercial initiatives, effective cost management, and a recovery in consumer confidence.

Additionally, the company benefited from the recognition of deferred tax income relating to reinvestment allowance, resulting in a lower effective tax rate, which further supported the net profit growth. The revenue growth was supported by a longer festive selling period in 2024 and strong year-end sales ahead of early Chinese New Year preparations in 2025, propelling a 14% increase in PBT.

In 4QFY24, Group revenue increased by 13% to RM823.1 million compared to 4QFY23, driven by higher sales during the year-end festive season where CNY 2025 is nearer to year-end than CNY 2024. This growth fuelled a 32% increase in Group PBT, while net profit for the quarter saw an increase of 42% primarily due to the increased revenue, further supported by effective cost and value management, as well as the deferred tax income mentioned above.

Martijn van Keulen, Managing Director of HEINEKEN Malaysia said, “the company is proud to report growth in 2024. The recent macroeconomic developments show signs of stability, and we are optimistic about further improvement in consumer confidence. Nevertheless, we remain cautious, acknowledging the economic volatility and a challenging consumer landscape.”

He added that the Board is pleased to recommend a single tier final dividend of 115 sen per stock unit for FY24, subject to shareholders’ approval at the upcoming 61st Annual General Meeting. Upon approval, this will bring the total declared dividend for FY24 to 155 sen per stock unit.

Despite economic challenges, Muar-based listed furniture companies have shown resilience through cost management, market expansion, and operational efficiency, with strong export demand and market positioning driving positive revenue growth.

SANDING DOWN THE EDGES: CAN MALAYSIA'S FURNITURE INDUSTRY STAY ON TOP?

Nestled along the scenic banks of the Muar River, this historic royal town is a hidden gem in Johor, blending old-world charm with industrial prowess. Muar, often dubbed the 'Furniture City of Malaysia,' is more than just a manufacturing hub—a town rich in culture, heritage, and entrepreneurial spirit.

With its colonial-era buildings, vibrant street art, and renowned gastronomic delights, Muar offers a unique blend of tradition and modernity. Yet, behind its laid-back façade lies a thriving economic engine, driving Malaysia's dominance in the global furniture trade. Home to generations of skilled artisans and forward-thinking entrepreneurs, Muar has evolved into an industrial powerhouse where craftsmanship meets innovation. From its bustling furniture factories to its scenic waterfront, Muar is a testament to resilience, adaptability, and the relentless pursuit of excellence.

Muar is instrumental in Malaysia's RM11.73 billion furniture industry, driving production and exports. Renowned for its skilled craftsmanship, efficient manufacturing, and strong global reach, the town accounts for nearly 60% of the country's total furniture exports. Over the decades, it has evolved from a traditional woodworking centre into a high-tech manufacturing hub, supplying premium furniture to over 160 countries, including major markets such as the United States, Europe, Japan, and Australia. This transformation has been fuelled by access to sustainable raw materials, government support, and a longstanding culture of excellence in furniture-making.

MALAYSIA'S FURNITURE INDUSTRY: GROWTH, COMPETITION, AND RESILIENCE

Malaysia's furniture industry has a long and rich history, evolving from small-scale local woodcraft businesses to major global exporters. The sector has capitalised on Malaysia's vast natural resources, particularly its sustainable rubberwood supply, making it a preferred destination for high-quality wooden furniture production. Furthermore, the industry has successfully integrated modern technology and automation, ensuring Malaysian manufacturers remain competitive globally.

Malaysia's furniture industry has demonstrated remarkable resilience and adaptability despite recent economic uncertainties. From January to August 2024, Malaysia's total global furniture trade surged 15.5%. Exports accounted for RM8.34 billion, reflecting an impressive 11.7% year-on-year growth compared to 2023. This strong performance highlights the industry's recovery, its ability to navigate shifting market dynamics, and its ability to strengthen its global competitiveness.

The sector's export-driven nature remains key to its success, with over 80% of production intended for international markets. Malaysian manufacturers have built a strong reputation for high-quality furniture and competitive pricing, positioning them among the world's top 10 furniture exporters. Malaysia's products cover various categories, including bedroom sets, kitchen furniture, office furnishings, and modular designs tailored for modern living.

However, Malaysian manufacturers face increasing competition from regional powerhouses such as China and Vietnam. China, the world's largest furniture exporter, benefits from economies of scale and cost efficiency, enabling it to offer products at highly competitive prices. Meanwhile, Vietnam has become a strong contender thanks to its lower labour costs and aggressive trade strategies. Lastly, we should closely watch out the potential tariff imposition by US on consumer products.

Despite these challenges, Malaysia's furniture industry has differentiated itself through product innovation, sustainable manufacturing practices, and superior craftsmanship. With a strong emphasis on eco-friendly production, Malaysian manufacturers have capitalised on sustainability trends, mainly using rubberwood, a renewable and environmentally friendly resource.

NAVIGATING MARKET HEADWINDS

MSWG closely monitors four public-listed furniture companies (PLCs) in Muar: Homeritz Corporation Berhad, Lii Hen Industries Berhad, Poh Huat Resources Holdings Berhad, and Sern Kou Resources Berhad.

These companies play a crucial role in Malaysia's furniture export sector, contributing significantly to the nation's economy while navigating dynamic global challenges.

Despite economic headwinds such as inflation, currency fluctuations, and shifts in consumer behaviour, these companies have exhibited resilience through strategic cost management, market expansion, and operational efficiency enhancements. The industry maintains strong revenue streams backed by sustained export demand and the ability to tap into multiple international markets.

While a few PLCs have experienced pressures on net profit margins due to increased financing costs and foreign exchange volatility (as shown in their latest quarterly results), most have managed to stabilise their financial positions through prudent capital management. Companies continue to prioritise working capital efficiency, ensuring liquidity for operational stability and ongoing investments in automation and sustainability.

The overall financial outlook remains positive as these firms focus on diversification strategies, product innovation, and improved

- ⊕ Homeritz: Strong revenue and net profit growth due to improved export demand.
- ⊖ Lii Hen: Marginal revenue growth but a significant drop in net profit, affected by forex losses and higher depreciation.
- ⊕ Poh Huat: Strong demand in the US office furniture segment fuels double-digit revenue growth. Its higher profit was in line with higher revenue and lower taxation.
- ⊖ Sern Kou: Record slightly lower revenue but posted higher net profit due to lower cost of sales.

operational efficiencies to sustain profitability. Integrating advanced technology and an effective cost-management strategy will mitigate risks and bolster long-term growth.

DRIVING OPERATIONAL EFFICIENCY

These PLCs also accelerate investments in automation, digital monitoring, and smart manufacturing to remain competitive. Advanced robotics, AI-driven analytics, and automated production lines enhance efficiency, reduce material wastage, and ensure quality consistency while decreasing labour dependency.

Many companies also leverage Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) systems for real-time inventory and supply chain management, enabling faster production cycles and better demand forecasting. 3D modelling and digital prototyping further streamline product development, allowing manufacturers to refine designs virtually before production, reducing costs and time to market.

Recognising the need to remain competitive against cost-efficient rivals like China and Vietnam, Muar-based manufacturers have intensified investments in automation, digital monitoring, and production efficiency enhancements. Integrating advanced robotics, smart manufacturing systems, and AI-driven analytics transforms operations by reducing labour dependency, improving precision, and streamlining production processes. Automated systems, including cutting, assembly, and finishing technologies,

- ⊖ Homeritz: Committed RM12.4 million in automation investments to enhance production efficiency.
- ⊖ Lii Hen: Strengthening supply chain management through digital monitoring and smart manufacturing processes.
- ⊖ Poh Huat: Upgrading production facilities with advanced machinery to improve output consistency.
- ⊖ Sern Kou: Post-fire plant reconstruction includes enhancing automation level to ensure greater consistency in quality control while minimising material wastage and optimising resource utilisation.

SUSTAINABILITY AND ESG COMMITMENTS

As ESG considerations become increasingly crucial in procurement decisions, Muar manufacturers embed sustainability into their business strategies. This involves focusing on eco-friendly materials, carbon footprint reduction, and renewable energy adoption, ensuring long-term competitiveness in the US and European markets, where stringent sustainability standards apply. Companies actively seek green certifications, optimise production processes to minimise environmental impact, and integrate recycled materials into their designs.

Additionally, many firms are implementing solar energy solutions and energy-efficient manufacturing practices to lower operational costs and meet regulatory expectations. Waste management initiatives, including using sustainably sourced timber and low-emission adhesives, are prioritised to align with global environmental trends. These sustainability-driven efforts enhance compliance with international requirements and position Muar's furniture industry as a responsible and sustainable manufacturing leader.

OUTLOOK FOR 2025: OPPORTUNITIES AND MARKET EXPANSION

Looking ahead to 2025, Malaysia's furniture industry is poised for continued growth, driven by several key factors. One of the most significant influences is the strength of the US dollar, which makes Malaysia furniture more affordable to international buyers. If the Malaysian ringgit weakens against the US dollar, this could further boost export demand, making Malaysian products even more competitive globally.

Moreover, the devastating wildfires in Los Angeles have created an unexpected surge in demand for home furnishings. Reconstruction efforts are expected to drive significant furniture purchases in the US. Malaysian manufacturers, especially those offering durable and cost-effective furniture solutions, stand to benefit from this increased demand.

Beyond the US, Malaysia is also set to expand its footprint in emerging markets such as India and Southeast Asia, where rising disposable incomes and urbanization trends fuel furniture consumption. India, in particular, is experiencing rapid growth in the home furnishing sector, presenting new opportunities for Malaysia exporters.

Despite ongoing challenges, Malaysia's furniture industry remains resilient and adaptable. Muar continues to lead the nation's exports and set quality, design, and sustainability benchmarks. With strategic advancements, a robust financial foundation, and an expanding global market, 2025 is set to be a year of renewed optimism and growth for Malaysian furniture manufacturers. As industry players embrace technological advancements and sustainability, Malaysia's furniture sector is well-positioned to reinforce its status as a global leader in high-quality and innovative furniture production.
