SUMMARY

 FoundPac Group Berhad (BURSA:5277) started as a precision parts manufacturer, expanding into new segments like cables and automation. While revenue grew 5.4% CAGR over the past 9 years, newer segments have lower margins, dragging down overall profitability.

Disclaimer: This article is written for informational purposes only. It does not constitute a solicitation, offer, advice, counseling or recommendation to buy or sell. As such it is not intended to promote the purchase of shares in any way. As a reminder, any type of asset has a risk factor and needs to be evaluated from multiple perspectives. Therefore, any investment decision and the associated risk remains with the investor. The views expressed here are entirely the writer's own.

- Despite growth, the Group has shown no clear improvement in productivity or capital efficiency. Margins have declined, fixed costs have risen, and return metrics remain modest and below the cost of capital.
- While FoundPac has a sound financial position with low debt, strong cash flows, and disciplined capital allocation, my valuation did not provide enough margin of safety.

BACKGROUND

FoundPac IPOed on Bursa Malaysia in 2016 as a precision parts manufacturer. Since then, the Group has expanded its product range to include laser stencils, industrial equipment, machinery, and cables. Its main customers are large multinational semiconductor firms, outsourced semiconductor assembly and test companies, and PCB design houses.

While the business remains globally focused, Malaysia's revenue contribution has grown significantly from 9% in 2017 to 35% in 2023. Refer to the right part of Chart 1.

• Precision Engineering (the largest in terms of revenue).

- Laser Stencils.
- Cables and Connectors (added in 2022).
- Automation (added in 2021).
- Others.

The bulk of the contribution came from only one – Precision Engineering. Table 1 shows the relative return on net assets for

Segment	Net Assets	Segment Profit	Return on
	2023	2022 to 23 ave	Net Assets
	RM '000	RM '000
	а	b	c = b/a
Precision engineering	66,150	13,062	20%
Laser stencils	23,764	871	4%
Cables and connectors	10,360	-4,334	-42%
Automation	6,228	588	9%
Others	637	-604	-95%
Т	able 1: Segment re	turns the various business segments. The lower returns for the nonprecision engineering segments meant that as the Group ventured into them, the Group's return got worse.

OPERATING PERFORMANCE

The ROIC and ROE have been declining since its 2016 IPO. There seemed to be a turnaround in 2019. But this seemed to peak in 2020 with the returns in 2024 lower than those in 2020.

The ROIC and ROE over the past 3 years (2022 to 2024) averaged 10% and 7%, respectively, compared to the current 9% each for the WACC and cost of equity. This is not exactly a great performance. Unless the Group can turn around and/or improve the performance of the non-precision engineering segments, we are not going to have any improvement in return.

The issue facing the Group is not revenue growth – it is operational efficiency and margin improvement. Over the past nine years, there has been no clear evidence of gains in productivity or efficiency.

- FRIDAY MAY 23 2025 Invest | 22
- Capital efficiency, as reflected by gross profitability, has steadily declined since 2016.
- While contribution margin improved from 2016 to 2020, it has since deteriorated, with the 2024 margin falling below 2016 levels (see Chart 2, left).
- Fixed costs have risen from 21% to 29% of total costs between 2016 and 2023, mirroring a higher SG&A margin.
- A DuPont analysis shows no meaningful improvement in asset turnover or leverage (see Chart 2, right).

PEER PERFORMANCE

FoundPac operates in the precision parts sector. This is a growing sector, with global market forecasts projecting strong growth, ranging from a 6.8% to 13.3% CAGR through 2030 or beyond. While the industry outlook is robust, FoundPac's revenue has grown at a more modest 5.4% CAGR over the past nine years. If it sustains this pace, its revenue performance would remain respectable relative to long-term industry trends.

The precision-machined component industry is a global one. In this context, FoundPac did well compared to some of its international peers for 2 metrics – Return on Capital and EBIT margin. Refer to Chart 3.

Invest |23 FRIDAY MAY 23 2025

Notes on the peers:

- B Barnes Group Inc.
- DAR Datron AG.
- MRE Martinrea International Inc. 6954 – Fanue Corporation.

FINANCIAL POSITION

I would rate FoundPac as financially sound. As of the end of December 2024,

- It had a debt-equity ratio of 36%.
- It had RM29 million in cash, equal to 18% of its total assets.

Over the past 9 years, it has generated positive cash flow from operations annually. During this period, its total cash flow from operations amounted to RM130 million compared to its total PAT of RM99 million. This is a very good cash conversion ratio.

It has a reasonable capital allocation plan as shown in Table 2. Looking at the Table, you may be concerned about the comparatively high amount spent on CAPEX.

My main concern is the moderately high Reinvestment rate incurred by the Group. Over the past 9 years, this averaged 55%. This high Reinvestment rate is in line with the high CAPEX shown in Table 2.

I defined Reinvestment = CAPEX + Acquisition – Depreciation & Amortization + Increase in Net Working Capital.

Reinvestment rate = Reinvestment / NOPAT

Of course, you may argue that this Reinvestment rate is because the Group was driving revenue growth and that it would come down as the Group matures.

VALUATION

The key takeaways from the above analysis are:

- While FoundPac's returns declined since 2016, it was one of the better performers compared to the global peers.
- There does not seem to be an improvement in operating or capital efficiencies.
- Looking at its returns and declining trends, I am not sure whether FoundPac has a sustainable moat.

As such, I considered the following in valuing FoundPac. (Refer to the original article for the details.)

- I estimated FoundPac's Asset Value to be RM0.20 per share based on its Book Value as of Dec 2024.
- Its Earnings Value based on its historical average rate was estimated to be RM0.45 per share. This assumes a 4% perpetual growth rate.

The Earnings Value provided a 25% margin of safety when compared with the market price of FoundPac at the end of December 2024 of RM0.36 per share. But this is a bit below my 30% target.

CONCLUSION

While the Group has delivered consistent revenue growth over the past nine years, this was driven by expansion into new product segments with weaker margins, leading to declining profitability. The core precision engineering business remains solid, but the newer ventures - cables, connectors, and automation - have yet to contribute meaningfully.

This suggests two things: first, growth within its core business may be reaching a ceiling; second, future upside depends on the success of these newer segments. Optimists might view current losses as part of a learning curve, but there is little operational evidence so far to support a turnaround, particularly in productivity or efficiency.

The Group is financially sound, but this strength will only matter if it is used to improve execution. Unless that happens, or unless margins improve meaningfully, FoundPac does not present a compelling investment case today from a long-term value investing perspective.

I am a long-term value investor who has held onto stocks for more than 5 years. My analysis and valuation are from such a perspective. I consider quarterly results "noisy" and focus on long-term trends. This article was derived from a detailed analysis, emphasizing the intersection of business performance and valuation metrics, which was first published on i4value as "Is FoundPac a value trap?" Refer to the article for further insights on its investment risk vs business performance.

4.4% GDP Growth in 1Q2025 Fortifies Malaysia's Fundamentals - Finance Minister II

A coording to Finance Minister II YB Senator Datuk Seri Amir Hamzah Azizan, the rousing performance across key economic sectors lifted Malaysia's GDP by 4.4% in Q1 2025, in line with the GDP Advance Estimates and higher than the 4.2% growth recorded in Q1 2024.

The GDP growth in Q1 2025 was buoyed by Services (5%), Manufacturing (4.1%), and Construction (14.2%) sectors. Further fuelling the growth momentum was stronger consumer spending during the Chinese New Year and pre-Hari Raya festive periods, the implementation of the new minimum wage in February 2025, and the recent increase in civil servant salaries. He noted that private consumption grew 5% in Q1 2025. This was supported by encouraging labour market performance with a decline in the unemployment rate to 3.1% and benign inflation at 1.5% — both marking the lowest levels recorded under the MADANI administration. This is compared to the performance in Q1 2024 where private consumption rose by 4.7%, while the unemployment rate stood at 3.3% and inflation registered at 1.7%.

FRIDAY MAY 23 2025 Invest | 28

He added that investments continued their growth momentum in Q1 2025, recording a 9.7% increase — reflecting the positive response from global investors to the MADANI Government's prodevelopment policies and strong emphasis on sustainability, as outlined in the National Energy Transition Roadmap (NETR), New Industrial Master Plan (NIMP) 2030, National Semiconductor Strategy (NSS), and other key national policy frameworks.

The Government is also actively working to attract more highquality foreign direct investment (FDI) to stimulate growth, while maintaining a dynamic ecosystem — after recording the decadehigh domestic investment in 2024.

At the same time, the Government acknowledges the presence of downside risks to the official 2025 GDP growth forecast of 4.5% to 5.5%, owing to tapering global demand, heightened geopolitical tensions, and the rising prevalence of protectionist trade policies – particularly the recent announcement of reciprocal tariffs by the United States of America (US).

The MADANI Government will revise the 2025 GDP forecast once the reciprocal tariff situation stabilises and greater clarity emerges. In the meantime, the Government will implement several mitigation measures to further strengthen the country's fundamentals — including efforts to boost domestic direct investment (DDI). Government-Linked Investment Companies (GLICs) have committed to invest a combined RM25 billion in DDI this year under the GEARuP programme. The MADANI Government will also continue to engage the US in bilateral trade discussions, while also leveraging multilateral platforms such as the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) and the Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership (RCEP) to uphold a fair and conducive global trade environment.

The MADANI Government will redouble efforts to diversify export markets and secure new trade agreements to mitigate the impact of global trade disruptions. These efforts have already borne early fruit in 2024, as reflected in increased investment and exports to non-traditional markets such as Egypt, Pakistan, and Cambodia alongside stronger export growth to other ASEAN member states.

The Government will also work to accelerate the implementation of the Ekonomi MADANI reform agenda, focusing on fiscal sustainability, strengthening Malaysia's economic value chains, protecting the welfare of the broader population through social safety nets, and unlocking the potential of the local talent pool.

The MADANI Government will continue to closely monitor both domestic and global economic developments, and is prepared to implement responsive and appropriate policy measures to ensure that Malaysia's economic growth remains consistent, sustainable, and inclusive — for the well-being of all segments of society. The Government remains committed to maintaining investor confidence and protecting domestic industries amid an increasingly complex global economic landscape.

Whith the AGM season now in full swing, it is time for meaningful engagement between companies and shareholders. Again, shareholders are urged to show up, speak up and ask tough questions. At the end of the day, it lies in us to shape the corporate landscape and hold companies accountable.

AGMs ARE NOT A RITUAL. THEY'RE A RECKONING

It's that time of year again - the Annual General Meeting (AGM) season is in full swing. Over the coming months, more than 500 public listed companies in Malaysia will convene their

From MSWG's The Observer

AGMs. Some companies treat the AGM as a serious platform for shareholder engagement, well-organised, transparent, and reflective of a genuine desire to build trust. Others, however, do the bare minimum to comply with the regulations, offering little substance and even less willingness to be questioned or held accountable.

FRIDAY MAY 23 2025 Invest | 33

But make no mistake. Regardless of how grand or modest the AGM may appear; it is more than a line item on the corporate calendar. It is the one forum where shareholders, especially minority shareholders, have the right to participate, question, and vote on matters that affect the direction and governance of the company. The AGM is not a courtesy extended by the board. It is a right guaranteed to every shareholder and must be exercised with clarity, purpose, and diligence.

BEFORE THE AGM: EVERY PAGE TELLS YOU SOMETHING

Good shareholder activism begins before the AGM. The AGM notice and annual report should not be received passively but read with intent. This is the moment to assess how well the company is performing, not just in terms of profit but also operations, strategy, and sustainability. Pay attention to how the company is governed. Is the board diverse and effective? Are there enough independent directors? Do they bring the right mix of skills, or is the board merely a collection of familiar names?

Scrutinising resolutions is equally important. Look closely at director reappointments, especially if they have been on the board for a long time. If a so-called "independent" director has served more than nine years, ask whether they still bring a fresh perspective. Is there an overconcentration of power by executive directors or the chairman? How was each director selected through a transparent process or personal networks?

Another important area is remuneration. If the board seeks approval for higher fees or executive bonuses, shareholders should ask whether these are justified by performance. A company struggling financially but rewarding its top brass handsomely raises legitimate concerns.

FRIDAY MAY 23 2025 Invest | 34

Shareholders should also examine closely any proposed transactions listed as resolutions, particularly those involving issuing new shares or dealings with related parties. Transactions that dilute existing shareholders' equity or benefit parties connected to the board warrant careful attention and scrutiny. If the company seeks approval for a private placement, rights issue, or share scheme, ask whether it is value-accretive or merely a short-term funding patch. Similarly, assess whether the company has provided enough justification for related party transactions and whether the terms are conducted at arm's length. Resolutions of this nature are not procedural formalities as they can significantly alter shareholder value and must be evaluated with the same rigour as any investment decision.

The AGM notice and circular, the annual report, the sustainability report, and the Corporate Governance Report are the only lenses shareholders have into the company's inner workings. Approach them not as a formality, but as due diligence.

DURING THE AGM: ASK, OBSERVE, REFLECT

The AGM is not just a reporting session. It is a dialogue; at least, it should be. This is when the board and management must be accountable, in real time, to the people they represent. Shareholders should use this opportunity to engage respectfully but firmly. Ask about the company's financial performance, business strategies, how risks are managed, sustainability priorities, climate strategy, or digital transformation plans.

Be observant, too. Are all board members, management and the auditor present? Does the board chair encourage questions, or does he or she brush them off? Are responses specific and sincere, or vague and evasive? Often, the tone and conduct of an AGM say more than the answers themselves.

FRIDAY MAY 23 2025 Invest | 35

Pay attention to the meeting's structure. Rushing the meeting with little time for questions or ignoring pre-submitted queries are red flags. A company that sees shareholders as partners will welcome scrutiny, not avoid it.

AFTER THE AGM: THE FOLLOW-THROUGH MATTERS

What happens after the AGM is as important as what occurs during it. Companies are required to publish a summary of the "Key Matters Discussed" on their websites as soon as practicable after the conclusion of the AGM.

Shareholders should read this summary critically. Does it honestly reflect the meeting, or has it been sanitised into a press release? Are the responses and discussions documented, or are shareholders left with a list of resolutions passed?

Beyond documentation, shareholders must monitor whether the company delivers on its promises. Were any issues raised at the AGM subsequently addressed? Are ESG targets being acted upon, or have they become marketing slogans? How is the company managing emerging risks like cyber threats, supply chain instability, or regulatory compliance?

Communication after the AGM is a good indicator of corporate culture. Does the company offer a clear channel for shareholders to engage, ask follow-up questions, or express concerns? Or is it radio silence until the next AGM?

SHAREHOLDERS AS CATALYSTS FOR CHANGE

Shareholders play an increasingly vital role in shaping companies' direction, accountability, and values. In today's corporate landscape, where governance and sustainability standards are under growing public and regulatory scrutiny, the expectations placed on boards and, by extension, on shareholders are higher than ever. The AGM offers a unique platform for shareholders to exercise their rights and reinforce the principles of transparency, fairness, and long-term stewardship.

FRIDAY MAY 23 2025 Invest | 36

When shareholders show up, speak up, and ask tough questions, it shifts the balance of power. Directors and management are reminded that they do not operate in a vacuum. In its most constructive form, shareholder activism can nudge companies toward stronger governance, longer-term thinking, and greater transparency.

It is time to normalise shareholder participation, not treat it as an exception. Regardless of the number of shares you hold, your questions matter. And your vigilance helps shape a healthier capital market.

The AGM is not a theatre. It is a test. It tests whether the board is transparent, whether shareholders care enough to question, and whether companies do governance because they have to or because they believe in it.

As hundreds of companies open their physical doors to shareholders this season, let us not squander the opportunity. Attend the AGM. Ask the hard questions. Challenge what needs to be challenged. Follow up after the meeting. Hold the company accountable.

We at the Minority Shareholders Watch Group (MSWG) remain committed to supporting this journey by raising essential and pertinent questions, amplifying shareholder concerns, and encouraging companies to do better.

But ultimately, the power to shape the corporate landscape lies with shareholders themselves. If you don't ask, they won't tell. If you don't vote, they won't change.
