TOP PERFORMING BROKERS AND MARKET INTERMEDIARIES AT THE BURSA EXCELLENCE AWARDS 2022

ursa Malaysia Berhad held its 10th annual Bursa Excellence Awards 2022 ceremony on 20 March 2023 to honour outstanding performance of brokers and market intermediaries in the Malaysian capital market. Themed "Recognising Excellence, Celebrating Success", a total of 54 accolades spanning 24 categories in the Securities, Derivatives and Islamic markets were awarded.

According to Tan Sri Abdul Wahid Omar, Chairman of Bursa Malaysia said, in 2022, the Exchange witnessed active trading of securities, at an Average Daily Trading Value of RM2.1 billion. Initial public offerings in 2022 were strong and vibrant. There were 35 IPOs in 2022, the highest on the Exchange since 2007, which raised a total of RM3.5 billion and contributed RM11.15 billion to the overall market capitalisation of RM1.74 trillion.

The derivatives market, on the other hand, recorded an all-time high in trading volume last year, achieving a record high of 19.1 million contracts traded in 2022, surpassing the previous high of 18.4 million contracts registered in 2021. Meanwhile, the Commodity Murabahah platform Bursa Suq Al-Sila performed similarly well in the Islamic Capital Market, with 22.3 percent higher ADV, up from RM37.3 billion in 2021 to RM45.6 billion in 2022. Bursa Malaysia will continue to collaborate with all brokers and market intermediaries to strengthen its value proposition and attract more participation in the Exchange. This will be achieved by facilitating innovations to revamp the investors' trading experience, while driving market conversations with more targeted educational and marketing initiatives.

According to Datuk Muhamad Umar Swift, Chief Executive Officer of Bursa Malaysia, given the rising global competition, it is imperative that we maintain our endeavours to promote our market and its various investment options, catering to the diverse risk appetites of investors. Working closely with our broker partners is essential in producing our collective desired outcomes, and we will continue to do so to raise public awareness about investing and make our market dynamic and appealing to investors.

MALAYSIAN REITS REMAIN A SAFE HAVEN AMID MARKET VOLATILITY - MIDF RESEARCH

According to MIDF Research analyst Jessica Low Jze Tieng, Malaysian real estate investment trusts (REITs) remain as safe-haven investments for investors amid market uncertainty, owing to growing contagion fears with the collapse of Silicon Valley Bank and the fallout of Credit Suisse Group AG. Local REITs could provide shelter for investors amid market volatility, as they could offer a decent average yield of 5.3% to act as an inflation hedge. The earnings outlook is positive for local REITs this year, given that earnings of REITs with exposure to the retail and hotel industry are seen improving further this year, due to recovery of consumer spending at malls and higher tourist arrivals. The performance of retail REITs is expected to remain steady, particularly for REITs with malls in good locations, such as IGB REIT, Sunway REIT, Pavilion REIT and KLCCP Stapled Group.

Retail spending is also expected to be supported by the festive season in 2Q2023, and higher tourist arrivals. Stronger tenant sales in 2Q2023, and rental reversion is expected to remain in positive territory. Also REITs with exposure to the hotel industry, namely Sunway REIT and KLCCP Stapled Group, is expected to see better earnings contributions from their hotel divisions. The hotel industry is expected to turn around this year, due to growth in domestic tourism and higher tourist arrivals. Similarly, an industrial REIT, namely Axis REIT, is expected to report stable earnings, due to solid demand for industrial space.

Despite consumers shopping at physical stores since the reopening of the economy, the online shopping trend remains, and that supports demand for warehousing space. As such, the defensiveness of industrial assets attracted interest of several REITs, such as KIP REIT and CapitaLand Malaysia Trust, to venture into the industrial space. Growing competition among REITs in the industrial space may compress acquisition yields for industrial assets going forward. Local REITs are expected to benefit with BNM anticipated to keep the OPR unchanged this year.

With MIDF economists projecting Bank Negara Malaysia (BNM) to keep its overnight policy rate (OPR) at 2.75% for the rest of 2023, it will be a positive for REITs, as it eases concern over rising borrowing costs. The central bank has paused the OPR twice in 2023, and the pause provided relief to REITs with high floating-rate borrowings, such as Al-'Agar Healthcare REIT with 100% Islamic financing on a floating rate, Sunway REIT with 68% debt on a floating rate, and Pavilion REIT with 65% financing on a floating rate. Hence, the risk of higher borrowing cost for REITs is seen as low in the near term, and earnings growth should remain intact. Low maintains her "positive" recommendation for the REIT sector, with her top picks being IGB REIT ("buy"; target price: RM1.86) and Sunway REIT ("buy"; RM1.73).

THE 'CASSANDRAS' ARE SOUNDING THE ALARM OF A MARKET CRASH, BUT SHOULD INVESTORS BE TIMING THE MARKET?

Devanesan Evanson

Chief Executive Officer, Minority Shareholders Watch Group

t may be difficult for some to envisage a major market crash in the near future, as it was not long ago since the Covid-19 pandemic triggered a free fall in global equities in early 2020. But of late, several well-known "Cassandras" from the likes of Michael Burry, Nassim Taleb and Nouriel Roubini have rung the alarm of a devastating crash. Should their predictions prove accurate, an impending crash may be lurking around the corner and could take investors by surprise.

In the context of finance, the term "Cassandra" refers to an individual who identifies and warns of risks in financial markets or predicts economic downturns but is dismissed or ignored by others in the financial industry or the broader public. The term originates from the Greek myth of Cassandra, a Trojan priestess who was cursed to deliver true prophecies but never to be believed.

Let us briefly summarise what some of these market prognosticators have said recently. Note that although their insights are directed towards the US market, a significant market crash in the US is more than likely to lead to a downturn in global markets and our local bourse as well - as the popular saying goes, "When America sneezes, the world catches a cold."

MICHAEL BURRY

Michael Burry - who gained fame for his successful bet against the US housing market in the mid-2000s, which was chronicled in the book and subsequent movie "The Big Short" - has been warning over the past two years that stocks are headed for "the mother of all crashes." In January, Burry hinted in a tweet that the stock market was nearing the edge of a cliff and could face a plunge similar to that of the dotcom bubble crash of 2001-2002. Burry, who was once labelled as a Cassandra by Warren Buffett, also predicted that the US would slip into a recession in the second half of 2023 and inflation to decline overall (but only to spike again when the US responds to its weakened economy with stimulatory policy).

NASSIM TALEB

Nassim Taleb, the author of "The Black Swan", recently used the phrase "Disneyland is over, the children go back to school" to warn investors of a painful return to reality. He argues that stock market levels are too overvalued unless interest rates "miraculously" return to nearzero levels, which the US Federal Reserve (Fed) will not allow as it has "realized zero-rates do not work" and create only "cosmetic growth." Taleb said the groundwork for a crash was also laid when strong stock performances started to be no longer based on companies reporting positive cash flows. Universa Investments, the hedge fund advised by Taleb, told its clients in a recent letter that ballooning debts across the global economy are poised to wreak havoc on markets rivalling the Great Depression of the 1930s.

NOURIEL ROUBINI

Nouriel Roubini - a prominent economist known as "Dr. Doom" for his pessimistic (but often prophetic) economic forecasts – believes the world is on a "slow-motion train wreck" while warning that a US recession is a sure thing. Roubini has been warning for months of a "great stagflationary debt crisis" - which would combine the worst elements of the 1970s stagflation and 2008 debt crisis. Early this month, Roubini reiterated his prediction by saying that a "perfect storm" is brewing. He estimated that the Fed would need to lift rates "well above" 6% for inflation to fall back to its 2% target - which could spark a severe recession, a stock-market crash, and an explosion in debt defaults, leaving the Fed with no choice but to back off its inflation fight and let prices spiral out of control.

Market timing – a fool's errand? After reading such doomsday predictions, investors may be emotionally tempted to time the market by cashing out and trying to re-enter when stock prices are low. However, attempting to do so can result in missed opportunities or costly mistakes. Numerous studies have shown that market timing is ineffective in generating superior returns compared to a traditional buyand-hold approach over the long haul.

For this reason, most investors are generally advised to abide by the age-old saying: "Time in the market beats timing the market." Such a saying is worth its weight in gold, considering it has been preached and echoed by numerous successful investors with time-tested track records from the likes of Buffett and Peter Lynch. Both Lynch and Buffett have demonstrated that successful investing is not about making short-term predictions or trying to time the market, but rather about identifying high-quality companies with strong fundamentals and holding onto those investments for the long term.

Howard Marks, a highly respected investor whose memos are widely read by investors including Buffett, also warns against trying to time the market and dismisses macroeconomic forecasts. However, Marks believes that investors should embrace a mindset that includes looking for a clear understanding of where we are now in the market cycle, developing an above-the-average understanding of future tendencies, and positioning our portfolios accordingly. In his view, where the market stands in the cycle dictates the future probabilities of returns. A market near the bottom of its cycle has a higher probability of higher returns than one closer to the top. Where the market stands in the cycle dictates the likeliness of future outcomes.

That said, the allure of prognostications can certainly lead us astray as investors, but to simply brush away concerns of an impending crisis (especially from Cassandras who have a track record of being proven right) may not be completely wise. While these Cassandras may be seen as contrarians or pessimists in the short term, their warnings can be valuable for preparing for and potentially mitigating the impacts of a financial crisis.
